Tax Law Carries Elderly Homeowner Benefits

By WAT TAKESHITA

SACRAMENTO — Elderly homeowners with modest homes and incomes stand to gain from Gov. Ronald Reagan's new tax law, which puts a bigger bite on othe Californians beginning this month.

The 63-page tax bill, which provides for a record tax increase on such items as sales, cigarettes and income, also includes a section called "Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law."

This section provides tax refunds to those over 65 who own taxable property such as homes and whose adjusted gross incomes are $3,350 or less a year.

This is how the refund works, according to David Doerr, consultatnt to the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee:

A property owner who is 65 years or older and whose adjusted gross income for his household is $3,350 or less may apply to the State Franchise Tax Board for a refund. The smaller the adjusted gross income, the more the refund. It will apply only to the first $5,000 of assessed valuation (roughly equivalent to a $20,000 home).

A claimant whose adjusted gross income for his household is $3,350 will get a one per cent refund on taxes he paid for the first $5,000 of assessed valuation.

The percentage of refund goes up to 15 per cent if the income is only $3,000; 35 per cent for $2,500 income; 55 per cent for $2,000 income; 75 per cent for $1,500 income; and 95 per cent for $1,000 income or less.

In other words, the person who stands to gain the most is a 65-year-old homeowner with a $20,000 house (any portion over the $20,000 value is not eligible for refund), whose adjusted gross income is less than $1,000. He would pay his regular taxes to the county, but would receive a refund from the state of 95 per cent of the taxes he paid in the county.

The refunds will cover this year's taxes to be paid in December and next April, Doerr explained. "We'll have to give the Franchise Tax Board time to prepare for the refunds," he added. Doerr said it is possible that the Franchise Tax Board might distribute claim forms in banks and other public places just as income tax forms are distributed.

$8 Million Park, Road Bond Vote For Novato

Winter Election Date Set

By THERON A. NEWELL

An $8 million bond issue for street improvements and parks, to go before the voters on Jan. 23, was voted last night by the Novato City Council.

This would be the city's first major bond issue in its seven-year history. The only other bond issue, that of $100,000 for a swimming pool, was approved in 1963 and there is an unpaid balance of $85,000 on it.

The tax to pay off the new 30-year bonds would remain constant at 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation over a period of 40 years according to Richard M. Bartle of Bartle Wells Associates, financial consultants to the city.

MOTION MADE

A motion by Councilman M. E. Babe Silva to include $350,000 for a new police station among the projects, was defeated 4-1. All other actions by the council were unanimous.

The plan submitted by Bartle calls for $5,750,000 for street improvements and $2,250,000 for park improvements.

In approving the amount for the bonds, the council agreed that the figure might be adjusted downward when the landscape architect submitted plans for parks about Sept. 1.

NOT FAVORED

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill said he would not favor a $400,000 community center and $300,000 second swimming pool to be covered by the bond issue, as they now tentatively are. The councilmen also agreed that the proposed Canyon Lake Park on

EDUCATION BOARD SETS BOND BALLOT

San Rafael Voters To Decide Oct. 24 On $10.6 Million Construction Issue

The San Rafael Board of Education last night voted to seek public approval of $10.6 million in school construction bonds in an election to be held Oct. 24.

The money would finance the building programs in the elementary and high school districts over the next five to seven years. There are three major items in the program:

1. A third high school costing a total of $5.5 million. The first phase, which would accomodate 1,200 students, would cost $3.9 million and would take two years to build. The second phase, accommodating an additional 800 students, would cost $1.6 million.

2. An elementary school at Peacock Gap costing about $750,000.

3. Glenwood Middle School (grades six through eight) costing about $2.08 million.

The building program was presented by a citizen's committee. Board member Paul L. Jones urged that the committee be retained to aid the election, and committee chairman John T. Schmitz responded by urging the board to get "new blood" on the committee.

The board and Schmitz decided to hold a meeting Aug. 15 to plan the publicity campaign for the election. Carl J. Brown and Herman L. Childress will represent the board and presidents of the Parent-Teachers Associations in the two districts will be invited to attend.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the administration building, Third and E Streets.

Viet Reds Use Children In Try To Bomb Base

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. forces today reported the shooting down of six American aircraft and three accidental attacks on troops and civilians.

The roll call of Vietnam misfortune also included the Communist shelling of two ocean-going ships in a Saigon ship channel, guerrilla terror raids against civilian refugee centers and a Viet Cong-coached attempt by children to bomb a key American fortress.

American spokesmen said a Navy A4 Sky Hawk and an Air Force RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance plane were downed over North Vietnam during the course of 113 U.S. raiding missions yesterday.

In South Vietnam yesterday Communist gunners shot down an Air Force F100 Supersabre aiding ground troops 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Army reported three of its helicopters were shot down while supporting the Mekong Delta sweep by more than 15,000 allied troops who killed an estimated 350 Viet Cong.

In the accidental attacks:

Three Army helicopters last night mistakenly fired on men of the Army 1st Infantry Division's 2nd Brigade. They mistook the troops for guerrillas, killing one and wounding seven 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

Firing at guerrilla positions near Le Chi village in the Central Highlands, an Army artillery unit today hit the village, killing four Vietnamese

Milwaukee Violence Is Checked

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Milwaukee was pronounced under control today after three nights of sniping, arson and looting in the city's worst outbreak of racial rioting.

Also five other cities experienced racial unrest last night and today. For the first time in the current wave of disorder across the nation, police intervened between threatening gangs of Negroes and whites.

Milwaukee was back in business at least during the daylight hours for the second day since the violence broke out. But the drastic curfew was to go into effect again at 7 p.m. until 5:30 a.m. Thursday.

Mayor Henry Maier said at a news conference that he was "reassessing the curfew tactic" for the days ahead, but said police have advised him against any immediate relaxation of a curfew that shut the city down tight at the outset of the worst racial riots in Milwaukee's history.

Three persons have been killed, about 100 injured and about 600 arrested.

Fire-bombings and gunfire broke out during the night in a 840-block area of the North and West sides, sealed off by a force of 6,700 police and National Guardsmen. A school building housing Breier's command post was the main target of snipers.

Firebombing and rock-throwing incidents also occurred, in Chicago, Peoria, Ill., Hartford, Conn., and Wyandanch, N.Y., a Long Island suburb of New

Grass Blaze Burns 25 Acres

A cigarette discarded by a passing motorist apparently started a grass fire that burned 25 acres of grass and brush yesterday afternoon above Fort Baker, an Army spokesman said today.

Heavy black smoke could be seen from San Francisco and throughout southern Marin as the fire burned from the Sausalito lateral down toward fort buildings.

Light Plane Search Made

A spokesman at Hamilton Air Force Base said the search planes were concentrating on the Bishop area.

The pilot was identified as Louis Giroux of Reno. The identities of the passengers were not known.

FLOOR BATTLE ON RUMFORD HOUSING

Assembly Rejects Attempt To Repeal Open Housing Act By A Large Vote

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly today rejected an attempt to repeal the bitterly contested Rumford open housing act and then began a floor fight over scaling down the anti-discrimination bill.

Opponents of the law, which bans discrimination in much of California housing, only received 26 aye votes to 40 noes in their attempt to wipe the act from the books.

The vote was on an amendment by Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, to a bill which aims to keep the law on the books, but scale down some of its controversial provisions.

Gonsalves held the roll call open in an attempt to win more support, but he only lost ground. The final vote on his amendment was 28 ayes and 42 noes.

Gonsalves said the people of California had voiced their opposition to open housing laws in 1964, when they voted 2-1 for Prop. 14, which nullified the Rumford act. The ballot measure was later overturned by the U.S. Supreme Court.

"We ought to recognize the feeling of the people of this state," he said.

But the alliance of Democrats and Republicans was caught in a cross-fire between militant advocates of outright repeal and determined opponents of any change at all.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, predicted his revision of the anti-discrimination act would pass with "upwards of 50" votes, several more than the 41-vote majority needed in the 80-member house.

But Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, backed by the powerful California State Real Estate Association, mounted a floor fight for outright repeal.

In the background was the possibility that the CREA would take its demands for repeal to the voters with an initiative if the legislature fails to act.

At issue was a bill designed to remove some of the punch

Clausen's Not Surprised Over Redwoods Park Stall

I-J Special Report

Any action for a redwoods national park in California is dead for this year, House Interior Committee Chairman Wayne N. Aspinalli, D-Colo., announced today in Washington.

The announcement came as "no great surprise" to Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, Calif., who has been pushing his Redwoods - to - the - Sea plan.

"This was more or less expected," William Stodart, Clausen's assistant in Washington, D.C., told the Independent-Journal this morning. "Aspinall has said all along that he wants to take his committee on a field trip to the California redwoods area to talk to the people and look at the economy before making a decision. It is more of a surprise that some people thought the redwoods park proposal would survive this session."

Stodart said Congressman Clausen will continue to work for a redwoods national park during the next session.

Chairman Aspinall of the Interior Committee served notice his committee would adjourn by Labor Day and would take no action on several major bills pending before it, including the redwoods park and the $768 million Central Arizona Project to carry Colorado River water to the Phoenix and Tucson areas.

Chief Blames Riot On Rap Brown

Sole Reason For Violence In Cambridge

WASHINGTON (AP) —Police Chief Bryce Kinnamon of Cambridge, Md., said today a fiery speech by Negro militant H. Rap Brown "was the sole reason" for a race riot that seared his town on July 24."

"Not only did his speech cause it, but he led these people," Kinnamon told the Senate Judiciary Committee as Congress embarked on its first inquiry into the recent waves of racial violence.

For that committee, considering a bill that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite riot, Kinnamon played a tape recording of a Brown speech which he said preceded the riot.

Brown has been accused under Maryland law of inciting a riot and being an accessory to arson in the burning of a Cambridge elementary school. Arrested in Virginia, he is free on bond pending extradition proceedings. He is the chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Kinnamon said his 21-man police force used live ammunition

Panel Cites Agitation As A Major Cause

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The executive director of President Johnson's riots investigation commission said today there is no question that "outside agitators" were involved in recent big city race riots. But he stressed that there still is no evidence so far of a national conspiracy.

The spokesman, Davis Ginsburg, said in reply to reporters' questions while the commission was holding its second closed session "that there were some outside agitators is a fact."

But he reiterated that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had testified yesterday there was no evidence "to date" of a conspiracy behind the riots.

Asked if the outside agitators had been identified as subversive, Ginsburg replied that there were "characterizations" by Hoover but that these were not emphasized.

Ginsburg disclosed that Hoover had been questioned about whether guns used by snipers in various cities were the same as to make and type. He said Hoover's answer was "unques-

Jordanians, Israelis Shoot Over Suez; Peace Pact Hint

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jordanian and Israeli troops exchanged machinegun fire for long periods across the River Jordan today for the second time in two days. Jordan said Israel had moved tanks and armored vehicles into the area.

There were no immediate reports of Jordanian casualties in the shooting, one of the few outbreaks since Israeli and Egyptian planes, artillery and tanks dueled across the Suez Canal July 15. Israeli and Syrian troops exchanged fire briefly last week.

A Jordanian military communique said "it is believed enemy forces and materials have suffered numerous casualties."

An official Israeli communique issued in Tel Aviv said the Jordanians started the shooting in both instances and the only casualty was one Israeli soldier slightly wounded.

The Jordanians accused Israel of beginning the shooting.

Despite today's incident and more militant actions by the United Arab Republic, the feeling was growing in Jerusalem that Israel might reach a non-aggression pact with at least one, if not two, of its Arab neighbors.

UPI correspondent Eliav Simon said Arab reports reaching Jerusalem indicated such a pact might be reached with Lebanon, which did not take part in the Middle East war, and possibly with Jordan.

In a statement without precedent in Israel's 19 years' relations with its Arab neighbors, Labor Minister Yigal Allon appealed yesterday to Beirut for "courage to talk peace with us." There have been hints in the past of some sort of accommodation with Amman.

Egypt today issued an "urgent" call for peace in the five-year Yemen civil war to free the thousands of Egyptian forces there for any joint Arab action against Israel, Cairo newspapers reported. It came as Arab foreign ministers met in the Sudanese capital of Khartoum to try to pick up the pieces of the six-day war.

Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, head of the United Nations truce team in the Middle East, returned empty handed to Jerusalem from Suez Canal talks in Cairo—the third time he has failed to get an Egyptian agreement on the future of the canal cease-fire line.

What he called his last "practical suggestion" to President Gamal Abdel Nasser was for a one-month period during which the status quo of the canal would be preserved. Simon reported from Jerusalem there were signs the Israeli government was trying to get Bull to try for a fourth and face-saving formula for Nasser.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said last night "we have safely passed the critical first stages in which we had failed following the 1956 Sinai campaign." When Israeli forces defeated the Egyptians then they pulled back from the canal and were denied its use in the armistice agreement that followed.

Navy May Be Denied Port Chicago Razing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee may decide against permitting the Navy to raze the munitions city of Port Chicago, Calif., according to Chairman Mendel L. Rivers.

The South Carolina Democrat suggested the Navy's request might be rejected in a House-Senate conference committee after Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., waged a fight against condemnation on the House floor.

The Navy wants $19.8 million to level the community for a two-mile safety zone around ammunition loading piers. The Navy facility at the Bay Area community handles much of the ammunition destined for Vietnam.

The condemnation remained in the House bill, but Rivers' comment indicated House conferees would go along with removing it if the Senate turns the request down in its consideration of the measure.

Waldie repeated earlier charges that the Navy's proposal would not assure the safety of other surrounding communities because the piers themselves do not meet the Navy's own safety standards.

The California Democrat also charged that the Navy had not given him full and free access to its data on the safety of the piers serving the Concord Naval Weapons Station.

Gaps Filled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Department officials have told Congress military pilot shortages have been filled, indicating trained aviators are available for all planes in Southeast Asia.

Terse Reply By Pearson To DeGaulle

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson, in a terse reply to French President Charles de Gaulle's second call for the liberation of French-speaking Canada, says outside intervention in Canadian affairs is still "unacceptable."

"The government of Canada has noted the statement by the president of the French republic regarding his recent visit to Canada," Pearson's statement last night said in reference to a communique issued by De Gaulle Monday.

"It has already made its position clear on the unacceptability of any outside interference in Canadian affairs and has nothing to add in the present circumstances."

After a Cabinet meeting Monday De Gaulle issued a statement saying that during his tour of Quebec last week he observed the French Canadians' will "to be masters of themselves in all respects, and especially to become masters of their own progress."

France, said De Gaulle, means to aid the French Canadians "to reach their objectives of liberations which they themselves have fixed."

Pearson last week pinned the "unacceptable" tag on De Gaulle's trumpeting in a Montreal speech of "long live free Quebec," the rallying cry of the French Canadian minority which wants to separate Quebec from the English-speaking provinces of Canada. Angered by Pearson's statement, De Gaulle canceled a visit to Ottawa and returned home.

"It is hoped by the Canadian government that this whole silly situation will boil down," said a source close to Pearson.

Politically the separatists, a noisy minority of Quebec's 5.7 million residents, have made little headway.

Hub School Tax Depends On Election

The San Anselmo School District Board last night adopted a $1,626,635 budget for fiscal 1968.

Last year's budget totaled $1,454,073. The tax rate will remain the same as last year's, $3.275 per $100 assessed valuation, unless voters approve a 75-cent increase in the rate in a bond and tax election Oct. 10. Income from property taxes last year totaled $675,895, and expected income from property taxes this year totals $763,154.

The board studied alternate routes to replace an easement the Mount Tamalpais Cemetery has over Red Hill School property. The Sleepy Hollow Tennis Club's request that it be given a specified time to use the tennis courts at Hidden Valley School was approved until the start of the fall semester.

The board hired J. Lee Mershon to serve as district librarian at $9,208. The next board meeting will be Aug. 22.

300 Killed

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — An estimated 300 persons were killed or wounded in a three-day battle between two Chinese hill tribes using machine guns and rockets, Deputy Premier Praphas Charusathien said today.

Praphas told his weekly news conference an unknown number of Burmese, Laotians and Thais were among the casualties in the battle in Burma's Shan state along Thailand's northern border.

Rail Freight Rate Increase Will Reach To Your Wallet

NEW YORK (AP) — Your pocketbook eventually may feel the impact of the $300-million annual freight rate increase won by the nation's railroads yesterday.

"The ultimate consumer will feel the squeeze of these increased costs," said one Wall Street analyst.

The increase was the railroads' first general rate hike in seven years and came despite administration pleas that such raises be considered "in the light of the national interest in promoting price stability."

The American Paper Institute, representing the paper and wood pulp industry, estimated the new rates would cost its members about $22 million annually.

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. said the rates would add about $1 million annually to its $50-million railroad freight bill.

"Rarely are costs of this type absorbed," said an Olin spokesman.

C. F. Fisher, transportation director for the Great Northern Paper Co., said "ultimately they (the increases) have to show up somewhere.

The housewife in the supermarket may feel the pinch also. The new rates "cannot help but have an effect on food prices in the long run," said George W. Koch, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, representing 300 food processors.

"Eventually, they will have to be passed on," said the American Institute of Food Distribution.

One Wall Streeter close to the industry guessed that when the prices of 1968 model cars are announced, some of the rate increase will be reflected.

In Detroit, the big three auto makers declined comment. But more than 50 per cent of General Motor products move by rail.

Bus Depot Paint To Be Beige

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer signed a $1,301 contract yesterday with Robert V. Kunst, San Rafael painting contractor, to paint the bus depot in Lytton Square beige.

The city council previously budgeted $1,000 for the painting and will be asked to authorize and additional $300 from unallocated reserves, said Harold E. Soule, Balmer's assistant.

The contractor was selected by the chamber of commerce for the paint-up campaign in commercial districts. Sandblasting of the depot began yesterday.

Luna Probe To Tackle A Riddle

PASADENA (AP) — The last of America's orbiting shutterbugs — Lunar Orbiter 5 — rolled over gently in space today, cocked an eye toward its guiding star and found a blur.

"We've got a star, but we don't know which one," a spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said after two attempts were made to find the bright star Canopus.

LIGHT SENSOR

The craft, he said, has to search with its light sensor for some bright heavenly body, and lock onto the light, to maintain its proper attitude in space. Canopus is normally the light source used.

The stubby craft was boosted aloft from Cape Kennedy, Fla., yesterday in a launch that was called "textbook perfect."

Orbiter's goal, after its 250,187-mile journey through space, was to slip into orbit around the moon, from which it was to take pictures of the lunar surface.

RIDDLE PROJECT

Previous orbiters looked specifically for safe landing spots for astronauts, a task lunar Orbiter 5 will also perform, but the main interest with the current mission lies in a classic scientific riddle.

Astronomers have long argued over what formed the moon's lumpy, pock-marked features—meteor impacts or volcanic eruptions. The weight of most opinion favors the impact theory, although photos from other orbiters indicate some of the features may be of volcanic origin.

Battleship Will Assume Plane Duties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising aircraft losses over North Vietnam figured heavily in Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's decision to order up the battleship New Jersey for war duty, Pentagon sources say.

Officers estimated the 45,000-ton battlewagon, a naval behemoth of another era, may be able to do the work of roughly 50 planes a day, thus cutting down the number of U.S. aircraft exposed to Communist fire.

AN ADDITION

At the same time, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the new chief of naval operations, stressed in an interview he views deployment of the battleship as an addition to, rather than a replacement for, tactical air strikes against the Communists.

To date the United States has lost more than 625 planes over the North in attacks against the same kinds of targets the New Jersey will be able to bombard with 1,900-pound shells—bridges, highways, supply dumps and defensive installations.

HEAVY ARMOR

The battleship has enough armor to allow it to wade into the heaviest enemy gunfire currently in use along North Vietnam's coast. These include five-inch equivalent weapons capable of sinking such lesser ships as destroyers.

McNamara approved yesterday the Navy's recommendation to pull the New Jersey out of mothballs at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard and add her 16-inch guns to Seventh Fleet forces now operating in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The Pentagon estimated it would take 9 or 10 months to get the 887-foot ship ready for its shakedown phase, which probably will be taken care of en route to Vietnam. Shakedown involves special crew training and test firing of the battleship's nine 16-inch and 20 5-inch guns.

PROJECT COSTS

Price of the reactivation was placed at $27 million, and sources estimated it would take $12.5 million annually to operate the battleship with an abbreviated crew of 1,400 enlisted men and 70 officers. A full complement would be 2,700 men.

France Soon To Construct Rocket Bases

LONDON (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's France today is on the verge of fielding her own strategic force of land and submarine based intermediate range rockets, according to the Institute for Strategic Studies.

The institute, respected for its military reports round the world, said De Gaulle may deploy France's first rockets as early as next year.

ROCKET COSTS

Only the United States and the Soviet Union have fielded independently developed strategic missiles.

According to an institute publication, the effort has cost France $10 billion. The driving force was the 76-year-old president.

Last year alone he devoted $1.1 billion, 25 per cent of France's entire defense budget, to the rocket program.

The study said France's program involves two types of intermediate range ballistic missiles—a land-based system and one for submarines.

PRESENT PLAN

According to present plans, a force of 25 to 30 rockets will be deployed in underground silos in the wine district of Provence in 1970.

In 1970 one nuclear-powered submarine with 16 rockets also will be deployed. A force of three submarines and 48 missiles is expected to be operational by 1974.

The study said French rocket technology is particularly advanced in ballistic missile development. More than 30 types of research rockets have been developed during the last decade.

MISSILE RANGE

The French missiles under construction are expected to have a range of between 1,800 and 2,000 miles. They are to be equipped eventually with thermonuclear warheads. The first H-bomb test is scheduled for 1968.

Tshombe Fate

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) —Ex-Premier Moise Tshombe appeared to be closer to a Congolese firing squad today as reliable diplomatic sources said Algerian President Houari Boumedienne has signed a decree for his extradition.

The leader of the 1961 Katangan secession was kidnaped and taken to Algiers June 30 and a court ruled it would be legal to deliver him to Congolese President Joseph Mobutu to be executed for high treason. A Congolese court found Tshombe guilty in absentia and Mobutu said he would get no further trial or appeal.

Aid Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official says a decision by a Montgomery, Ala., court last week would force Washington to get court permission before cutting off aid to Southern schools which refuse to integrate.

Derrick Bell, acting director of the Health, Education and Welfare Department's office of civil rights, added, however, that he doubts federal officials will appeal the decision. The decision applies directly to Alabama but Bell said the principle would apply in 16 other Southern and border states.

Smoking Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission will use its new smoking machine to test the tar and nicotine content of about 50 brands of cigarettes.

However, even before the FTC formally ordered the test, the Tobacco Institute said the testing methods to be used are not scientific and won't produce accurate or clear-cut results. It added there is no valid scientific evidence demonstrating that tar and nicotine are responsible for illness.

Peace Plank

WASHINGTON (AP) —Democrats opposed to the Vietnam war are urging that a major effort be made to include a peace plank in the party's platform next year.

Among those involved is Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a Washington attorney who is vice chairman of Americans for Democratic Action. He prepared a 2,400 word memorandum and has circulated it among ADA leaders. However, the ADA hasn't officially endorsed it.

New Ambassador

ATHENS (UPI)—The Foreign Ministry today announced the appointment of Christos Xanthopulos-Palama , formerly envoy to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, as ambassador to Washington.

Oregon-Style Primary Abandoned

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An attempt to establish an Oregon-style free-for-all presidential primary in California has been abandoned for this session of legislature.

Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, said yesterday he would try again next year.

Alquist disclosed his plans after he moved his bill to the Senate inactive file. He said he would leave it there for the remainder of the session.

The bill would have ruined Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to run as an unopposed "favorite son" in next year's Republican presidential primary in California. It was opposed by the Republican State Central Committee but supported by Democratic Chairman Charles Warren.

The measure would have adopted the primary plan in use in Oregon, Nebraska and Wisconsin which requires the secretary of state to place the names of all potential candidates on the ballot.

Alquist's bill failed to pass the Senate earlier in the session on a straight party line vote of 20-19, one short of the number needed for approval.

Alquist said he killed the measure because of "implications" that he traded his vote on the tax bill last Friday for a vote on the primary measure. He changed his vote from "no" to "aye" on Reagan's $943.3 million tax increase, giving it the majority needed for passage.

Chou Foils Army Kidnap Plot

HONG KONG (UPI) — Rebellious army troops in Communist China barely missed kidnaping Premier Chou En-lai last month, a Japanese newsman reported today from Peking.

The soldiers were waiting to capture Chou and his party at one Wuhan airport July 23, but the premier learned of the trap and avoided it by flying to another city airport, the correspondent said.

In a related development, Peking Radio said today that 'communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung's forces had offered an olive branch to the "bad leaders" of the Wuhan uprising.

The radio said the Peking leadership looked on Wuhan's anti-Mao "heroic army of one mlilion" as "temporarily misled." It said a "handful of bad eggs" dumped some of the city's military and political leaders into clashes with forces loyal to Mao.

Auto Insurance Is Defended

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The head of one of the country's largest auto insurance companies predicted today that forthcoming Congressional inquiries will reflect credit and reveal the public responsibility of automobile insurance operations.

Adlai H. Rust, chairman of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., said the investigation "will not show excessive profits on any basis of computation, nor can it show, over-all, a return that can attract to or retain in our business capital equal to our growth and needs."

Rust told the Federation of Insurance Counsel, however, that the industry will not be proud of all the things congressional researchers will disclose. He said there have been unjustified cancellations, too many failures of insurers and too many marginal operations.

Lincoln Branded 'White Racist' In Stinging Carmichael Attack

HAVANA (UPI)—Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael said yesterday Abraham Lincoln was "a white racist" and exhorted American Negroes to take arms to fight for their freedom "from New York to California, from Canada to Mexico."

He called for the "collapse of capitalism."

Carmichael, made an "honorary delegate" at the Communist-sponsored Latin American Solidarity Conference, made his remarks at a news conference barred to American and British newsmen. Exerpts appeared in the Cuban newspaper "Rebel Youth."

"We are organizing urban guerrillas in the United States according to the tactics inspired by (Che) Guevara of creating two or three more Vietnams to bring the collapse of capitalism and imperialism," he said.

He defined Black Power as a "union of the Negro population which is struggling to destroy the capitalist structure which is exploiting us" in the United States.

Carmichael said only when American whites "are ready to take arms and fight will we (blacks and whites) fight together." He criticized "whites who call themselves liberals but are enemies of the Negro struggle."

"I want to say Lincoln was a white racist in the best sense of the word," Carmichael said. "There is no evidence he tried to get real freedom for the Negroes. He once said he regretted having to give freedom to the slaves in order to win the war."

Carmichael said in the interview his idols were the late Black Muslim leader Malcolm X, Guevara and Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

He said the Western leaders like President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara "will have to pay dearly for their complicity" in case he (Carmichael) ever disappeared.

He presumably included Wilson because the Home Office last week banned him from Britain.

"One good thing about the Vietnam war is that the United States has taught us how to kill," Carmichael declared later. "Our brothers returning from Vietnam are going to use that training well in the cities of the United States."

The State Department is making preparations to revoke the passport of Carmichael, who came to Havana for the congress. The Justice Department is also investigating the activities of the 26-year-old militant, a native of Trinidad who was reared in New York's Harlem and the Bronx and is a naturalized U.S. citizen.

A Fatal Boom

VANNES, France (UPI)—The sonic boom of a supersonic airplane caused a barn loft to collapse yesterday, dumping eight tons of hay on five persons eating lunch, police said today. Three of the persons were killed and the other two suffered serious injury, they said.

Assembly Turns Down Rumford Repealer

The measure, by Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, cleared the Senate as a total Rumford act repeal bill. But a compromise was hammered out by Bagley and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, to retain part of the old law.

The compromise would remove what Bagley said was the most objectionable feature of the 1963 law — a ban on discrimination in the sale, leasing, or rental of single family homes financed with government help, such as those purchased with Federal Housing Administration backed loans.

Instead, the law would apply only to dwellings with five or more units. It would also cover subdividers marketing five or more houses, but not individuals selling their homes.

The present law, pushed through the legislature by then Assemblyman Byron Rumford, D-Berkeley, was nullified by a 1964 ballot proposition. But the vote of the people was overturned by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bagley and Unruh almost lost their compromise in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday, but saved it by pushing the bill out without the usual "do pass" recommendation.

At one point, they were one vote short of the 10 needed for committee approval. Conservative Republicans in favor of repeal and liberal Democrats who opposed any change teamed up against them.

Chairman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda told reporters the compromise was a "psychological blow toward minorities and would do nothing but cause trouble."

"In our current state of racial turmoil, this could very well be the catalyst, this could very well be the strain that brings further turmoil to California," Bagley said.

But on the other hand, he said, the legislature must "deal with sore points" of the current law.

Conrad replied "the people spoke very eloquently" in the 1964 vote.

Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, a Negro who represents Los Angeles' Watts area, said modification or repeal "will only intensify racial tension."

The compromise also:

Gives those accused of discrimination the right to take their case to court. If they win their case, the state would pay reasonable attorney fees.

Strikes at those suspected of initiating discrimination complaints without intending to occupy the dwelling. They would be subject to a $500 penalty if it was proved they were not "bona fide" purchasers or renters.

Changes the name of the Fair Employment Practices Commission, which administers the law, to the Human Rights Commission.

Labels the measure the "Bagley-Burns Act" to take away what opponents consider the stigma of the Rumford name.

Councilman Harley McAskill pointed out that the city might get $575,000 in federal funds for the purchase of open space, making a total of $2,825,000 for parks. He also pointed out that the street improvement projects over a period of 10 years would get $4,075,000 in additional funds from participation of property owners in improvement districts, and from the county, and from state gasoline tax money. Thus the city would get $9,825,000 worth of street work, $5,750,000 of it in city bonds.

The council approved a contract with Orrick, Herrington, Rowley and Sutcliffe of San Francisco, bond attorneys, to act as bond counsels. They will do the necessary work on the election for $750. If the bond election is successful, they will charge $2 per $1,000 for handlin the sale of the bonds.

The plan submitted by Bartle calls for selling the bonds in two-million-dollar lots in the fiscal years of 1968-69, 1969-70, 1973-73 and 1977-78.

Bartle said that the legal bonding capacity of the city, based on the present assessed valuation, exceeds $7,200,000, and will far outgrow that limitation in the 10-year bond-selling period.

In arguing unsuccessfully for a police station, Silva pointed out that it could be constructed for $20 per square foot. When the police station was erected, the two houses now used for the police could be used to expand the city office space.

The street improvement program under the bond issue has in it: Widening of South Novato Boulevard from Highway 37 to Novato Boulevard, Novato Boulevard from South Novato Boulevard to San Marin Drive, Center Road from Lu Sutton School westward, Diablo Avenue from Novato Boulevard to Center Road, Tamalpais Avenue from Novato Boulevard to Hill Road, McClay Road from Novato Boulevard to Center Road, Simmons Lane from Novato Boulevard to San Marin Drive; connecting Ignacio Boulevard to San Jose Boulevard, Arthur Street to Indian Valley Road; resurfacing certain streets.

Park projects include development of Pioneer Memorial Park, Novato Creek Park and playgrounds at four school sites; purchase of sites for Canyon Lake Park, Stafford Lake Park, San Marin Park on San Calos Drive and a site on East Olive Avenue.

11:35 p.m., San Anselmo — Grass fire in back yard of home of Dennis M. Day, 50 Sais Avenue, burned a fence; damage, $100.

VIOLENCE

York City.

In Detroit, Michigan national guardsmen continued to patrol streets, but no major incidents were reported. The last of 5,000 federal troops were withdrawn today, and a citizens committee began work to rebuild the motor city which received an estimated $250 million in damage in rioting last week.

There were these developments:

Providence — Police riot squads fought snipers and intervened to prevent clashes between gangs of Negroes and whites in a second round of violence touched off by Negro observance of "Emancipation Day," at least 23 persons were injured and 14 arrested Tuesday night; gangs of about 100 whites rampaged through a Negro neighborhood shouting "white power."

Chicago — Firebombs struck several stores in a South Side neighborhood made racially tense by a shooting in which a white store owner was accused of murdering a Negro; one store was gutted by flames apparently ignited by a Molotov cocktail; at least five other store windows broken.

Wyandanch, N. Y.—Bands of Negro youths rampaged through business area, setting fire to four stores and a school and hurling rocks through windows and at police; one policeman injured and one man arrested.

Hartford, Conn.—Three firebombing incidents reported in downtown section, but the bombs failed to cause damage.

VALLEJO — Young Negroes stoned passing cars and one shot was fired at a patrol vehicle, police reported yesterday, as Vallejo had its second straight night of unrest.

Chief Jack Stiltz, who called in off duty patrolmen and help from the Solano County sheriff's office and the California Highway Patrol, said he felt things would have been worse if police had not moved in rapidly.

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, chairman of the special panel, said yesterday after a day-long closed session of the 11-member commission that Hoover presented an FBI summary on 52 civil disorders over the past three years.

"In his statement to us, he said they (the FBI) had no intelligence on which to base a conclusion that there was any conspiracy," Kerner told newsmen.

Supervisors Back Runway

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday endorsed the county aviation commission's recommendation for an air strip parallel to the main Hamilton Air Force Base runway, to attract commercial airlines, and for development of an adjoining industrial park.

Also approved were new job specifications for the commission and a monthly salary range of $753 to $914. Hiring is expected by Oct. 1.

The commission went on record favoring the air strip July 25. Their resolution stated that a primary aim of Marin County is to be the creation of a large industrial park-general aviation complex in the area south of Bel Marin Keys and east of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Park Renovation Tops In Priority

Renovation of Fairfax City Park was given top priority among park capital improvement projects last night by the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

The commission set its own priorities on a list of 14 projects proposed by county planners in the Fairfax general plan.

Second priority was given to developing Claus Circle Park, and third to renovation of Cascade Park.

The commission, whose 1967-8 budget was cut by the city council last week, adjourned to 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Fairfax Women's Club to plan ways to get the funds restored.

Tools Are Stolen From Marine Firm

Theft of an estimated $2,600 in used tools from Redwood Marine Service, Gate Six in Marinship near Sausalito was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Owner Don Bailey told deputies Sunday the tools — including several huge sets of socket wrenches — were taken from his firm's barge.

State Axes Sausalito 701 Funds

Sausalito's application for $20,000 in federal funds for the second half of its "701" planning study has been rejected, city councilmen learned last night.

The planning division of the state department of finance had funds for only seven of the 29 applications it received, reported City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

"There is a good possibility we'll get funding later in the year," he said, "when the state expects more money." Applications for the planning grants are reviewed quarterly for funding.

The city's portion of each of the studies is $9,844.

Patterson said he will meet with staff of the state planning division "to see what we can do to give us more priority points."

and injuring 16, spokesmen said.

Air Force Supersabres hitting Viet Cong positions near the allied airfield near My Thou in the Mekong Delta late Monday killed two civilians and wounded six, spokesmen said.

Full investigations were ordered for each accident.

They lobbed mortar shells and fired machineguns into the Cam Lo refugee camp holding 15,000 Vietnamese civilians just below the North-South Vietnam border. Guard units suffered "heavy" casualties, spokesmen said. The Communists, in an attack against a Montagnard tribesmen camp in the Central Highlands, killed two refugees and wounded four.

In a new ploy, the Communists sent children against the Marine bastion of Camp Carrol, one of the string of U.S. fortresses guarding against another North Vietnames invasion drive.

Thieves Get $400 In Goods From Autos

Thieves last night, ransacked 11 cars parked near Canal Street apartments, getting away with more than $400 worth of goods, San Rafael police reported today.

Police reports indicated that, in all but three cases, the cars were unlocked.

Charles James, manager of the apartment at 455 Canal Street, called police early this morning after seven cars had been ransacked in their stalls. A pair of binoculars, a flash light and a stuffed animal from the car belonging to Beverly Gulnn was all that was taken.

Walter Drew, one of three 220 Canal Street residents hit, reported a $139 car stereo and tapes valued at $169 taken from his locked auto. Police said a coat hanger was used to lift the door handle from the inside.

A transister radio, pocket knife, a makeup kit and a coat belonging to Beatrice Kisich, also of 220 Canal Street, was taken from her unlocked auto.

District Salary Hikes Approved

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board last night approved salary raises for the district's five employees which will add $1,400 to the district's budget for fiscal 1968.

The maintenance supervisor, engineer and maintenance man each received an increase of $25 a month, and the secretary and stenographer-clerk received 20 cents an hour more.

The board also authorized a district payment of up to $10 a month per employee for hospitalization insurance, the first time the district has approved such insurance.

The board called for an election Nov. 7 to fill the seats of board members Herbert C. Leney, Ernest T. Mock and Fred A. Nicholson, whose terms expire.

Gravel Firm Asking To Continue Work

A conditional use permit application by United Sand and Gravel Co. to continue operation on the Sausalito waterfront will be heard by Sausalito Planning Commission 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Also on the agenda is a conditional use permit application by Miramonte Investment Co. for a planned unit development of 16 single-family houses on about two acres at the intersection of Butte Street and the Highway 101 right-of-way.

Good Condition

No Tax Hike In Mill Valley's School Budget

The new property tax rate is expected to be unchanged from last year, $3.168 per $100 assessed valuation, said Supt. James A. Collins. The new rate will be set later this month.

Trustees previously approved a $2,619,335 publication budget, but because of a cutback in state aid last night cut the undistributed reserve from $239,610 to $129,000.

The new budget includes $30,000 to expand the educationally handicapped program by adding a second class and beginning a learning disability program; $6,000 to provide sabbatical leaves for one teacher at half pay for a year and for another at full pay for one-half year; $5,800 to continue the outdoor education program; $8,000 to implement new programs; $3,000 to lease portable for instrumental music instruction at Edna Maguire School, and $2,500 for a coordinator of teacher volunteer-aides.

to turn the crowd back from the business district. He said the crowd returned to the Negro section of town for a night of shooting, looting and arson.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., expected to head the Senate's major inquiry into city race riots, asked whether there would have been trouble in Cambridge without Brown.

"I am confident that his speech was the sole reason for our riot," Kinnamon said.

Earlier, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts said the pending antiriot bill "may constitute a fraud." He said it might present an appearance of meaningful congressional action when there has been none.

Meanwhile other congressional investigators today linked racial rioting in Chicago, Atlanta and Nashville with militant civil rights groups but concluded that Communist groups primarily stirred up hatred rather than instigated riots.

The still-secret study, prepared by the staff of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, recommended the committe undertake a formal investigation of the role of subversive elements in the riots. Such a decision may be made later this week.

The study said that the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, whose leaders include Stokely Carmichael and Brown, initiated and helped to incite rioting in Atlanta last year and in Nashville, Tenn., this year.

Inmates Quizzed About Killing

San Quentin Prison officials are still questioning eight suspects in connection with Monday's stabbing incidents in which one inmate was killed, Associate Warden James W. L. Parks said today.

Yesterday, a prison-made knife was discovered which officials think may have been the one used in killing James M. Cooms, a burglary convict, in the east wing cell block.

Park said there is no evidence to indicate the same knife was used in the stabbing of inmate Alvan L. Perry, also a burglary convict.

Hearing Scheduled On Narcotics Charge

Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 18. Sowell, of 2558 Las Gallinas Avenue, Terra Linda, is accused of writing and passing prescriptions for a narcotic at Marin pharmacies Oct. 25.

LBJ's Peace Feeler Hint Doubly Denied

COMBINED AP & UPI

SEOUL — Clark M. Clifford denied today a report that he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, presidential envoys on an Asian mission, are feeling out the Vietnam war allies about a possible peace proposal.

"The report was in error," Clifford said on his arrival with Taylor from New Zealand for talks with President Chung Hee Park and other South Korean officials.

"We have not discussed any peace plan. We discussed plans for and development of the war."

That was his response to a request for comment on a statement by CBS television last night that President Johnson "is in the final throes" of deciding on a major peace gesture to the North Vietnamese to coincide roughly with the South Vietnamese presidential election Sept. 3.

In Washington, the White House and the State Department also knocked down the peace try rumor.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey stressed however that the U.S. search for peace in Southeast Asia "never ends" although the hard attitude of the North Vietnam Communist regime has balked any progress.

School Tax To Be Raised By 28 Cents

The Fairfax School District Board last night approved a 1967-68 budget of $696,272 and Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported a 28-cent rise in property tax will be required.

Last year's tax rate of $2.705 per $100 assessed valuation will rise to an estimated $2.981, Hammond said.

The increase is for operating costs for White Hill School, now being built, three new teachers and a librarian and extensive building repairs, Hammond said.

The Fairfax School District Board also:

HEATING — Set bid opening and contract award for a new heating plant at Manor School for 4 p.m. Aug. 11 at the district office.

TEACHER — Hired Ellen Ahola as a third grade teacher at a salary of $6,400.

Cars Are Removed After Ranch Fire

The last of a number of old cars at the Dias Ranch, 200 yards south of Harkle Road, Novato, were removed Monday, according to Lawrence A. Coleman, director of public works.

The old barn on the ranch was used by automobile clubs and amateur mechanics to repair and remodel cars for the past several years. Following a fire which destroyed the barn, the Novato City Council declared it a public nuisance and ordered it cleaned up.

Clausen Urges More Plane Use In Forest Fires

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, Calif., today called for "improved use of aircraft in fighting forest and brush fires."

He made the statement in response to a study released by the Office of Emergency Planning on the use of aircraft in firefighting.

Clausen endorsed the recommendations of the OEP study and called "particular attention to the creation of a research facility for the testing and development of improved methods for implementing the use of aircraft in fire control work."

The recommendations include greater use of helicopters and airfields and development of a homing device which would allow cargo and firefighting equipment to be air dropped at night or during low visibility.

Truck Bill Wins Despite Mafia Cry

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill linked by an Assemblyman with a Southern California construction practices controversy involving reputed Mafia and Cosa Nostra figures awaited Gov. Ronald Reagan's signature today.

Imperial County Dist. Atty. James E. Hamilton denounced the Assembly's approval 41-21 yesterday of the Senate-passed legislation as a "sell-out" and a "disaster."

The bill, by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, virtually exempts dump truck firms working on public works contracts from the violations cited by the Public Utilities Commission in a scandal involving construction of an interstate freeway in Imperial County.

Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley, charged on the Assembly floor the bill was backed by Mafia and Cosa Nostra members involved in the scandal.

He said the underworld figures involved in the interstate freeway project were trying to get themselves out from under loading violation citations made against them by the PUC.

One of the major backers of the measure was the Miles and Son Trucking Service of Merced.

Other backers of the bill included the California Trucking Association, the Teamsters Union and several small trucking companies.

Adjournment — Recesses legislature Agu. 4 to return for a five-day session considering governor's vetoes Sept. 4 and final adjournment thereafter; SCR 82, Unruh, D-Inglewood.

THE SENATE

Senate committee action:

Medi-Cal — Bill prohibiting payments to hospital doctors already receiving salaries, approved by Finance Committee, AB 1140, Duffy, R-Hanford.

Investments — Bill permitting State Employees' Retirement Fund to invest up to 25 per cent of its money in stocks and bonds, carrying out Prop. 1 passed by voters last fall, approved by Finance Committee; AB 913, Barnes, R-San Diego.

Drunken—Bill requiring State Transportation Agency to set up system of controls to reduce death and injury from drunken driving — with $250,000 appropriation, approved by Finance Committee; AB 2538, Wilson, R-San Diego.

Jury May Get Stabbing Case

The case of Harold B. Patterson, 22-year-old San Quentin inmate accused of stabbing a correctional officer with a screw driver, will probably be referred to the Marin County Grand Jury Aug. 9, District Atty. Bruce B. Bales said yesterday.

Information and evidence in the case was turned over by prison authorities to the district attorney's office for possible prosecution last month.

The officer, Genn E. Bennett of San Anselmo, was stabbed twice in the back with the screw driver. He was released from Marin General Hospital July 13, the day after the stabbing.

Session Canceled

The meeting today of Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association was canceled for lack of "urgent business" reported Dr. Willard H. Pennell, association president.

Ombudsman Plan Is Lost In Committee

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One of Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh's pet proposals — to establish an official state complaint desk — is lost for the legislative session, but the speaker says he'll try again next year.

But Unruh, D-Inglewood, predicted to a newsman that "it's coming" after he was told smilingly by Sen. Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, that the Senate Finance Committee would like "to study it some more."

The proposed position was that of ombudsman, a title created in Scandanavian nations. In California the official would have been able to look into citizens' complaints about the executive branch of government, but not about the legislature, the judiciary or local police departments.

Unruh told a newsman that he "could have gotten it by trading" but said he wanted legislators to recognize the need themselves — not have the idea forced upon them.

The bill was rejected in a Senate committee two years ago also.

Finch-Unruh Job Project Pact Angers Reagan Aides

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch and Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh have announced formation of a long-range privately financed project to help members of minority groups find jobs and to ward off possible racial violence.

They signed incorporation papers at a joint news conference yesterday for a private agency called Opportunity Enterprise Corporation.

Finch sought to dismiss reports that Reagan's aides were angry with him for going ahead with the plan without including the governor or giving credit to Reagan's own job plan.

Finch said "this was thoroughly discussed with the governor."

Finch said the plan is an "extension" of the assignment given to him by Reagan as head of the new Job Placement Council.

Finch said the new corporation will formulate "purely experimental pilot kinds of projects" to recruit unskilled and poor members of minority groups, train them and find them jobs in industry.

Current programs sponsored by the federal government, state and some private groups are "obviously not working well," Finch said.

Both private and federal funds — but none from the state — will be used as finances.

Meanwhile, Unruh, D-Inglewood, said he will seek a state appropriation of $5-10 million for grants to local agencies which employ youths for civic improvement projects.

He said his plan is "principally a stopgap" measure to head off any racial violence this summer in California.

"The idleness of the young is the smouldering fuse of our potentially explosive minority areas," Unruh said. He said his plan is not connected with the other project.

Thefts From Hub Autos Reported

Two San Anselmo residents reported thefts from their cars Monday according to San Anselmo police.

Samuel W. Jones of 15 Humboldt Avenue said eight electric letter openers, 12 pillows and two raincoats, worth a total of $94, were taken from his car while it was parked overnight in the parking lot at Center Boulevard and San Anselmo Avenue.

Robert Lea of 27 Sierra Avenue said a purse was taken from his car between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. yesterday, while the car was parked in front of his house.

More Bills By Bagley Are Law For 44 Total

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Three more bills by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, have been signed into law and 10 others are awaiting the Governor's signature.

This brings to 44 the number of Bagley bills which became law or which will be signed into law this session. Twenty-three of these are technical bills to correct deficiencies in the law or obsolete law, which Bagley pushed as chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

The latest Bagley bills to be signed into law are:

AB-2045 — Telegraphic copy of a warrant may be sent by any electronic device. Present penal code says warrant may be sent by telegraph or teletype.

AB-2046 — In extradition cases, warrants of arrest may be signed by an authorized agent signing for the governor. Present law says only the Governor can sign.

AB-2053 — Gives local agency certain discretion to sell or dispose of unclaimed property in the possession of the police department after a certain length of time.

Bills awaiting the Governor's signature include:

AB-1430 — Lowers the bond required in stockholders suits from $50,000 to $25,000.

AB-1431 — Allows Marin County to continue financial assistance to Sausalito School District in lieu of property taxes lost due to a redevelopment project.

AB-2052 — Allows increased retirement allowance formula for employees in Los Angeles County and counties which wish to adopt such provisions under the County Employees' Retirement Law.

AB-2075 — A member of a local legislative body who has a non-contractual interest in any matter coming before the body shall disclose such interest and shall be ineligible to vote. This was requested by Sonoma County because of a conflict of interest case which arose on the Santa Rosa City Council.

AB-2436 — Approves swapping of tidelands at the intersection of Highway 101 and Shoreline Highway near Richardson Bay Bridge so that a private tennis club can be built there.

AB-2441 — County supervisors or governing board of a special district may not reapportion districts of the board members within 90 days prior to the final date of voter registration for an election of such board members.

AB-2446 — Amends section of Financial Code relating to loans made by savings and loan associations to give further protection to the borrower.

AB-2328 — A superior court may designate a person to serve on a law library board of trustees.

AB-1004 — Specifies that a juvenile may waive certain basic rights during a juvenile court proceeding. Otherwise, every juvenile would have to have a guardian appointed for every move in the proceedings.

Budget Hearing

Public hearing and adoption of the $3,083,489 budget for fiscal 1968, up $508,443 from last year, is scheduled for 8 p.m. today before Dixie School District trustees in the administration building at 35 Trellis Drive.

Seven Bills By McCarthy Win Governor's Signature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO— Seven more bills by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, have been sent on to the Governor for signature, bringing to 20 the total number of McCarthy bills that have become or about to become law.

AB-493—Exempts Vallejo shipping firm serving military needs from certain provisions of the Public Utilities Code.

SB-610 — Permits the California Highway Patrol to issue emergency vehicle permits for any vehicle operated by the chief or assistant chief of a fire department organized "pursuant to special act of the Legislature." This was requested by the Terra Linda Fire Department.

SB-614 — Makes boat transporters subject to the same provisions which appty to vehicle transporters so that oversized loads of boats can be moved on the highways.

SB-885 — Conveys certain tidelands to the City of Benecia.

SB-1054 — Authorizes temporary bar pilot's licenses for San Francisco, San Pablo, and Suisun bays to meet need for addtional pilots created by military operations.

SB1343 — Contractors, bidding on projects where federal funds are used for public works, need not be licensed in California.

San Rafael School Tax Reduction Passed Up To Bolster Reserves

By GLENN BECKER

The San Rafael Board of Education last night adopted its elementary and high school budgets and passed up an opportunity to lower tax rates in order to build up reserve funds.

The board passed budgets of $3,855,799 in the elementary school district and $3,938,299 in the high school district. Because assessed valuation jumped 13 per cent in the elementary school district and 13.2 per cent in the high school district, rather than the expected 6 per cent, the board had the opportunity of cutting the tax rate 5 cents in each.

The tax rates last year were $2.18 per $100 assessed valuation in the elementary district and $2.20 in the high school district. By requesting the board of supervisors to maintain these rates, the school board members added about $90,000 to the elementary district reserves and about $128,000 to the high school reserves.

This action would raise elementary reserves to about $316,000 and the high schools' to about $289,000. Last year the elementary district reserves were $117,417 and the high school district reserves were $77,322.

Supt. John F. Plank said at the outset of the meeting that the board had the opportunity to cut the tax rates, but Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., board chairman, quickly demurred. Said he:

"I'm not particularly impressed by the size of those reserves. I wonder if we best serve the public by taking a few cents off the tax rate, when we can build up the reserves which have always been woefully weak in my opinion."

Board member John C. Pfeiffer supported this view, noting that the savings for any family from a 5-cent tax rate cut would rarely exceed five dollars. He said he preferred to augment the reserves.

Board member Paul L. Jones noted that the board was not discussing the possibility of lower taxes, because the higher assessments will in fact mean higher taxes. "Dont let anybody get the idea we are; we're just talking about whether to take all we might."

Property tax bill in the elementary school district will grow from $2,362,247 to $2,537,000; in the high school district the jump will be from $2,715,210 to $2,880,000.

The board also refused to approve an across-the-board pay raise of $50 per year for all athletic coaches in the high school district. It placed the $8,000 budgeted for raising substitute teachers' salaries and the $2,000 budgeted for raising coaches' salaries in the reserve funds pending agreement on how to award the money.

The board also refused a request by high school department chairmen to cut their class schedules by one period to make up for time spent on their duties as chairmen.

The next board meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 22 at the school administration building, Third and E streets.

The San Rafael Board of Education Also:

PAINT BID — Accepted the $5,384 bid of the Mazza Painting Co. of San Rafael for painting the exterior of Coleman School for which the board had budgeted $7,180.

SHOP ADDITION —Accepted the $57,220 bid of the Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma for a shop addition at Davidson Junior High School. The board had budgeted $64,000.

GROUNDS WORK — Accepted the $17,283 bid of Hans R. Vielhauer of Rohnert Park for grounds improvements at Santa Venetia Middle School. The board had budgeted $17,120.

HONORED — Approved a resolution commending Wylma M. (Cookie) Cunningham for her 39 years of teaching home economics in San Rafael schools.

HIRED — Approved the following appointments: Donald Beck, high school industrial arts teacher, $7,220; Mrs. Nora Cornett, high school home economics teacher, $8,435; Benjamin Skippingday, maintenance helper, $4,800; Mrs. Doreen Wassen, temporary attendance clerk, San Rafael High School, $2.18 per hour;

APPOINTED — Mrs. Nancy Richardson as 1967-68 home economics department chairman, Terra Linda High School; Mrs. Helen Marie Spindt as 1967-68 home economics department chairman, San Rafael High School; Robert Corley, Terra Linda High School athletic director.

RESIGNIATIONS —Accepted the following resignations: Noreen Antrim, noon supervisor at Bahia Vista School; Ronald Fredericks, Santa Venetia Middle School head custodian; Margaret Freedman, Terra Linda High School English teacher; Franz Guepin, Terra Linda High School mathematics teacher; Lydia Horan, noon supervisor at Davidson Junior High School; Mrs. Jane Pokorny, elementary district music specialist; Janice Woods, noon supervisor at Sun Valley School.

GIFT — Accepted the gift of a $400 Viennese violin, made in 1878, from Mrs. William G. Toland of 10 Madelene Lane, San Rafael.

Condition Critical

Jeannette Miller, 27, of Los Gatos, a former San Anselmo resident, was reported still in critical condition today at San Francisco General Hospital with multiple fractures after a three-car crash Saturday on Golden Gate Bridge. Driver Guiseppe Constanzo, 65, of San Francisco, also injured, was released from the hospital yesterday.

Wee Hour Ban On Parking Set

Sausalito City Council last night approved a proposal to ban downtown parking on certain streets from 3 a.m. to 7 a.m. to allow operation of a street sweeper.

The ban, to be effected by an ordinance which will be introduced Aug. 15, includes both sides of Bridgeway between Caledonia Street and 539 Bridgeway, lower Princess Street and El Portal.

Present ordinance bans parking downtown from 2 to 6 p.m. but is not enforced. Cars violating the new ordinance, when it goes into effect, will be towed away.

County Asks State Funds For Roads

Marin County sought extra state aid for winter flood damage to county roads yesterday for the first time since 1958.

The board of supervisors approved an application for $160,000 under the state emergency flood relief law. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost placed total damage to county roads from severe winter rains and slides at $389,000.

Under the flood relief law, Marin is entitled to reimbursement for storm repair costs that exceed 10 per cent of the total allocation of state gas tax funds for county roads, Frost explained.

Marin now receives about $1.3 million in gas tax money.

Frost said road repair costs to date were $250,687, with an additional $138,601 appropriated for corrective measures this fiscal year.

Marin Couple Wins Ribbons

SANTA ROSA — A San Anselmo couple was announced as winners of nine blue ribbons in the floriculture division of the Sonoma County Fair as reporting of judging was completed yesterday.

Guilty Plea To Forgery Charge

Bennie Murie, 21, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to one count of forgery. Judge Peter Allen Smith then dismissed four additional forgery counts and certified the case to Marin Superior Court for judgment.

Murie, of 55 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, forged a $25 check June 3 with intent to defraud Owl Rexall Drugs in San Anselmo.

Don't grown-ups know?

Every litter bit hurts

Grown-ups know. But they get careless. And that's why parks, recreation areas and camping grounds are so often marred by litter. Of course, you aren't responsible for the whole ugly mess. Or are you? If you toss even one bit of litter away, you can start the pile up. So please, Mom, Dad—lead the way to the litter basket. Use a car litterbag. On camping trips, carry trash out with you. Bridge Work Sought To Prevent Flooding

Fifty Forest Knolls residents petitioned the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday to rebuild or replace the 40-year-old Montezuma Road Bridge over Paper Mill Creek to prevent flooding from winter rains.

The supervisors asked Public Works Director Donald R. Frost to list the project as a priority in his budget proposal next year.

Residents along the creek complained that two narrowly spaced supports of the concrete span act as a dam durning rains because they block large pieces of debris. While this floods upstream property, the petition noted, downstream areas are deluged when county crews release the debris and a rush of water ensues.

Frost reported the reconstruction to eliminate the pilings would cost $14,000, while a new structure would run about $21,500. He preferred the latter, but said a new bridge could not be built by this winter and suggested the matter be deferred until budget time next spring.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

REZONING — Confirmed the planning commission's action to rezone for commercial recreation use 72 acres of agricultural land owned by Rawson Kelham, Lawrence Walters and Larry H. Marks Jr. at the entrance of Point Reyes National Seashore in Olema. The West Marin Master Plan has suggested a golf course on the site.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Voted $2,300 for continued support of senior citizens recreation programs in Novato, Terra Linda and Marinwood, with these communities receiveing $1,400, $600 and $300, respectively.

SIGNS — Unanimously overruled the planning commission and granted the Standard Oil Service Station in Marin City permission to install a sign on the rear of its building to attract customers from Highway 101.

SLIDE — Approved $4,000 for Moore and Taber, West Sacramento soills engineers, to investigate a slide condition along Bret Harte Road between Oakhurst Avenue and Tiburon Boulevard just outside the San Rafael city limits.

PERSONNEL — Adopted the personnel commission's requests for a broader role in employee matters, with the first step to be a series of meetings between the commission and department heads.

RETIREMENT — Strengthened, at the request of the Marin County Employees Retirement Association Board, procedures for disability hearings, thus enabling hiring of a referee to rule on testimony and requiring applicants to take a physical examination by a doctor chosen by the retirement board.

MENTAL HEALTH — Referred to staff for study a request by the Mental Health Advisory Board to establish an ad hoc committee to handle special problems coming before the advisory board.

SCHOOL — Endoresed the staff's recommendation for relocation of the county school for trainable mentally retarded persons adjacent to the Marc-Marin work training center at 1452 Lucas Valley Road, Lucas Valley, at a site development cost of $3,150, rather than evict Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alves from their home at 1450 Lucas Valley Road, to build a new school there.

COURT WAGES — Set Aug. 1 as the start of wage increases for municipal court clerks, instead of Oct. 1, on the request of the judges and Edna L. Lemke, head clerk.

HANDICAPPED — Renewed an agreement with the Easter Seal Society to administer the county recreation program for handicapped residents at a cost in fiscal 1968 of $6,600.

ROAD — Amended the county streets and highways plan permitting Marinwood rancher Manuel Silveira, blocked rfom access to Highway 101, permission to install a road to connect with the Miller Creek Road interchange.

NOTICES — Affirmed planning commission action eliminating the practice of posting land rezoning notices in affected areas and requiring the notices be mailed to concerned parties.

HOTEL — Agreed to support a request by the Marshall Hotel in Marshall for an encroachment permit from the State Division of Highways to install a septic tank and filter field between Shoreline Highway and Tomales Bay.

STREET — Abandoned less than an acre of Poplar Drive right-of-way in Del Mesa, Kentfield, in exchange for property extending into the improved part of the street.

Redmen To Install Officers Sunday

Tamal Tribe 288 of San Rafael, Improved Order of Redmen, will install Alfred Tiller of Santa Rosa as sachem at a "raising of chiefs" ceremony at noon Sunday in Samuel Taylor State Park. Tillet is now senior sagamore.

Lyle Smith of San Rafael will be raised to senior sagamore, William Prior, San Rafael, to junior sagamore and Kurt Kalemba of Woodacre, to prophet. The tribe will have a picnic and entertainment following the installation.

Hilarita May Become Moderate Income Site

The Marin County Housing authority deferred a decision last night on plans for the Hilarita housing site, but members indicated they lean toward development of moderate income housing.

The World War II housing must be abandoned by June, 1970, and the authority has three options: to convert it to another subsidized public housing project, convert it to leased housing, or sell it for private development of moderate income housing.

Authority Chairman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said the authority assumed the City of Tiburon was not interested in low-income housing because the 15-acre Hilarita area has been zoned by the city for single family houses.

The authority's only decision at last night's hearing was a guarantee to Tiburon that if Hilarita is zoned for multiple housing and the authority cannot provide moderate income housing, the land would revert to single-family zoning before being sold.

Tiburon has asked the authority to study and report how private developers could develop moderate income housing.

From six to 10 acres of Hilarita is to be sold to Reed School District and authority director Donald O. Stutsman said there have also been suggestions a two-acre park be developed on the site.

More than 60 people filled the Reed School audio-visual room for the hearing on permanent site plans.

the Marin County Housing Authority last night also:

HOUSING — Decided to plan for 12 efficiency apartments and eight one-bedroom apartments for the Novato housing project for the elderly instead of 14 one-bedroom and six two-bedroom apartments, because of a change in federal policy.

FINANCIAL — Accepted recommendations from the U. S. Housing Assistance Administration to consider better methods of collecting rents and to invest reserve funds.

APPLICATION — Authorized Stutsman to ask for federal approval of housing project for the elderly of 40 units south of Northgate Shopping Center.

REDEVELOPMENT — Following the housing authority meeting, the five members met again as the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and authorized recording of various sanitary easements in Marin City, not previously recorded with the county. A discussion of raising authority attorney Leland H. Jordan's contract fee was put over to the Sept. 12 meeting.

HIRING — Delayed action on union proposals the authority hire a journeyman plumber and carpenter full-time. A decision will come after Stutsman reports on work performed by the authority maintenance crew.

Former Principal Takes New Post

HEALDSBURG — Homer E. Hoyt, former principal of Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael, has resigned as superintendent of Healdsburg Elementary and High School Districts to become executive director of the Northern San Joaquin Valley Supplementary Education Center.

Hoyt joined the San Rafael schools in 1950 after teaching in Petaluma. He left in 1961 to join the San Luis Obispo County schools office, and became superintendent in Healdsburg in 1965.

Supervisors Vote To Back Making Beach Land Public

The Marin Board of Supervisors — which variously considerd sewer assessment, flood control and planning matters — sat as a jury yesterday.

At issue was whether the county should support a court move by agroup of Inverness homeowners to declare as public property Chicken Ranch Beach on Tomales Bay. The verdict was yes.

After hearing arguments from attorneys on both sides, the board decided, 3-2, to oppose a request by Larry H. Marks Jr., owner of the property, to dismiss the suit before trial in Marin Superior Court.

Dissenting were Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis. Kettenhofen objected the "county is playing the role of (land) speculator."

The homeowners filed suit in May after Marks fenced the property. They argued the public has used the beach for 75 years without interfenence. A former owner even welcomed residents on the property, said Robert M. Brown, attorney for the homeowners.

But Wallace S. Myers, counsel to Marks, told the board that the public had no right to use of the property unless an owner agreed "in writing or by unequivocable declaration." He alleged that some of the homeowners who brought the suit previously rejected a lease offer of $1 a year.

Leading support of county action to block pre-trial dismissal was Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who said the board had a "duty" to protect a public interest.

While agreeing, Chairman Thomas T. Storer said he would seek reimbursement of taxes paid on the property by Marks if the court ruled that the beach was public and consequently should become county land. The county will not take an active part if the suit goes to trial.

No State Reply To Bill For Pay

The state has been mum on Marin County's claim for $2,700 in overtime paid sheriff's officers to patrol the giant music festival in the state park atop Mount Tamalpais June 9-10.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said yesterday the State Department of Beaches and Parks, which issued the festival permit, has not replied to the bill, sent June 20. Mitchell said he would re-submit the claim.

The board of supervisors has objected to paying county force overtime for helping state authorities on their property in Marin.

Freedom Flight Ends; Escapee Back At Prison

Wallace Hakes, 50, captured in Canada July 11 after a three-year flight from a San Quentin road camp in Siskiyou County, was returned to San Quentin yesterday afternoon after a three-week holdover in Buffalo, N.Y.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Hakes, who is serving a five-to-life sentence, faces possible prosecution in Siskiyou County and will have to go before the parole board at the prison.

But, said Parks, with the extend of his sentence, about all that can be done is to deny parole when it comes up.

Convicted of murder in La Mesa in 1958, Hakes was captured last month while working in a Douglas Aircraft plant when a crop-duster recognized his FBI photo in a dective magazine and linked him with flying.

Bridgeway Widening Cost Up By $38,000

Just the first stage of widening Bridgeway will cost $38,000 more than estimated, Sausalito City Council was told last night.

Beverly J. Whitlow, consulting engineer for the project, had estimated first stage cost at $148,962, but no bids were received May 31 on the project. In later discussions with contractors, he said, it was found that principal reasons for lack of bids for the new rock seawall and fill was a scarcity of suppliers and barges, and difficulty in placing the rock under existing decks.

Negotiation with Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael produced an offer to do the first stage for $186,974, Whitlow said. If the council awards a contract to the company, work would start Oct. 1 and take about four months, he said. Rock and sand would be furnished by Basalt Rock Co., Novato, as a subcontractor.

"I have satisfied myself that the offer is a reasonable one," Whitlow told councilmen, "and I can find no reason to think that readvertisement or continued negotiation will result in a quotation significantly more favorable."

Ghilotti offered to remove and reconstruct existing decks on a time and materials basis instead of on their bid of $26,645 for this portion of the project, Whitlow noted. Councilmen asked him to get quotations on this portion of the project from other contractors and to report his findings Aug. 15.

The unexpected cost increase "presents no problem at all in the budget," said City Mgr. George M. Patterson, because adquate funds already have been accumulated for the project.

The cost increase, however, will eat up money to have been used for some design amenities, he conceded, "but we hope other funds will be available for this."

The total project between Princess and Richardson streets also includes a sea walk, boardwalk, expanded beach and park areas and, possibly, a fishing pier. Total cost was estimated at $439,000 — before the unexpected $38,000 increase.

Whitlow said he expected his other estimates to remain the same.

Sausalito City Council also:

CIGARETTE TAX — Heard city Mgr. Patterson estimate city revenue from new 3-cent tax on cigarette packs, effective Oct. 1, will add $27,000 a year to city revenue.

GENERAL PLAN — Put off adoption of a revised general plan, agreeing to set special hearing at Aug. 15 meeting.

TREES — Authorized Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo to remove seven hazardous eucalyptus trees in street right-of-way on Rodeo Avenue for $453.

CABLE ROADWAY — Asked Patterson and Supt. of Public Works Norman Wohlschlaeger to report Aug. 15 on steps to improve access through Cable Roadway.

HYDRANTS — Recieved report from Patterson that Marin Municipal Water District will provide an additional $4,915 in matching funds in fiscal 1967-68 for water line construction for fire hydrants.

TOW-AWAY — Requested ordinance setting tow-away zone on south side of Upper Princess Street to keep clear walkway and driveway at 83 Princess.

PARKING — Invited member of City-County Services Committee to attend council meeting to explain proposed city-county planning council.

POLICE — Endorsed in principle proposal by City-County Services Committee for coordinated police services bureau to set up cooperative city-county police agencies.

PERMIT PARKING — Adopted ordinance to establish permit parking at new waterfront lot behind the post office and Shell station, monthly fee set at $10. Deadline to request a reserved space in the lot is Aug. 15.

DRY CLEANING — Adopted ordinance permitting in-plant dry cleaning establishments in neighborhood commercial districts, but prohibiting pick-up and delivery trucks as part of the operation.

FEES — Adopted ordinance requiring $25 filing fee and $50 deposit for filing of tenattive maps of minor subdivisions.

Novato Annexes Land Near School

The Novato City Council last night passed an ordinance annexing 1.69 acres on Vineyard Road opposite the Sinaloa Junior High School site. The Ordinance had been introduced at last week's council meeting.

The council also approved the contract with the federal office of Housing and Urban Development for the payment to the city of $11,000 funds as half payment of $22,000 for two lots to add to the Arroyo Avichi Park.

Council Asks Cash Instead Of Car Stall

Sausalito City Council last night introduced an ordinance to permit cash payments in lieu of providing off-street parking in commercial districts.

The ordinance does not set the amount of payments, but specifies an amount "equivalent to the estimated normal current cost" per space will be set annually by the council.

Payments will be deposited in a special fund to develop off-street parking facilities "located, in so far as practical, in the general vicinity of the buildings for which the in-lieu payments were made."

The ordinance also provides the council may use payments to acquire and develop "public parks, esplanades and other similar open spaces."

Present ordinance permits the council only to deny or grant variance applications.

In-lieu payments, unique in Marin, would be credited toward payments to a parking district if formed later City Mgr. George M. Patterson said.

The payments were proposed by William E. Spangle Jr., the city's "701" planning consultant.

Spangle also has recommended that parking requirements for restaurants be based on one space for each four seats instead of being based on square footage, as at present.

In one case, Patterson said, present requirements based on square footage would require 49 spaces for a restaurant seating only 40 persons.

Span Directors Lauded For Supporting Buses

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors are to be commended for going on record once again in support of improved bus service between Marin and San Francisco.

At a meeting last Friday in Santa Rosa, the bridge directors voted to go ahead with a second deck on the span and also renewed the following pledge made in a resolution last May:

"This board of directors does hereby declare its intention that it will cooperate with the City and County of San Francisco and the Marin County Transit District in taking positive action to improve bus service, and does hereby approve, in principle, the use of Golden Bridge and Highway District Funds to supplement funds raised through Marin County taxes for the improvement of inter-county bus service . . ."

This, in effect, means that the bridge district is ready to chip in financially to help the Marin Transit District with improving bus service and encouraging commuters to take buses instead of private cars into San Francisco.

The directors recognized that some form of mass transit is the only solution to the ever increasing congestion of cars over the Waldo Grade and across the bridge.

The ultimate solution is mass transit via a second crossing or underwater tube. However, since this will not become a reality for a couple of decades at least, the interim answer is a form of lesser mass transit; namely, improved bus service.

Much of the credit for getting the bridge board's pledge to help in improving bus transit goes to Marin Director Thomas D. Hardcastle. His persistence and persuasiveness, in the face of sometimes overwhelming odds, has paid off.

Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, a sharp critic of the bridge board in past years, also played a key role.

While making every effort to cooperate with the bridge board, Senator McCarthy urged the bridge district to pursue bus transit improvement along with the second decking.

We applaud all bridge directors, some representing counties as far removed as Del Norte, for recognizing and sympathizing with the pressing need to alleviate highway clogging in the immediate San Francisco metropolitan area.

The expressed willingness of the bridge district to give financial backing should serve as an impetus for Marin Transit District to proceed forthwith with its plans for improving bus service between Marin and the City.

Bird Drinks Like Horse

Most birds put their beaks in water, take a mouthful and raise their heads to swallow. Not the Band-tailed Pigeon. He drinks in the manner of a horse. He puts his bill in the water and drinks and drinks without raising his head. This is one way he can be identified at a distance.

Because of the resemblance of Band-tails to domestic pigions, they are a bit hard to identify. Aside from their slight color difference — dark gray rump, contrasted to the light gray rump and back of the domestic — Band-tails will light in trees, something domestic pigeons almost never do.

There is a flock of Band-Tailed Pigeons in Larkspur, and we believe there is a flock is Mill Valley, and there are probably others. We like to watch these sleek, handsome, graceful birds. They seem to be so calm and free.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan In For Trouble On Equal Education Proposal

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Although Gov. Ronald Reagan's "equal education plan" is scarcely dry off the press, some observers feel that already it is due for more trouble than the governor bargained for.

The trouble is expected not from educators, except those who are unalterably opposed to tuition in the university and state colleges, and not from the do-gooders whose conception of higher education is that it should be free to everyone, but from the hard core of citizens who see in the plan a gimmick to dispense free higher education to the so-called needy at the expense of those who allegedly are capable of paying for their own children but not others.

The plan has in it a system of grants-in-aid and loans available to needy young people who qualify for entry into the university or the state colleges, and who cannot finance their own expenses.

ON THE FACE of it, this is a laudable objective. As Reagan says, an enlightened society requires educated citizens. There can be no quarrel with this contention, but there may be a definite question as to how much education society can afford.

Under the equal education plan, not only would loans be made and grants-in-aid given the needy, but a system of recruitment would be effected to bring them into the university and colleges. He calls attention to the fact also that only a small percentage of college students are from racial minorities.

Looking at the plan from a hard-headed business standpoint, inequities are found which are to the disadvantage of the great mass of individuals in the middle income brackets who apparently will derive no benefits as far as educating their children is concerned.

THE ORDINARY citizen who has perhaps a little over the maximum income which will be fixed as "need," will find himself confronted with two charges, rather than one, to provide his children with higher education.

The charge now is the tax the citizen pays for maintenance and operation of the university and state colleges. The second will be the new tuition fees, if they are adopted by the board of regents for the university, and authorized by the legislature for the state colleges. In addition, he will have to pay living expenses and incidentals for his children while they are in college.

This particular class of citizen will get no benefits nor can he even apply for a loan under the equal education plan.

ON THE OTHER side of the fringe, the citizen who meets the stipulations for need, still pays taxes, but benefits from the grant-in-aid program, and his children will be eligible for loans to continue in college, although it is expected there will be "forgiveness" provisions in some instances.

Both the loans and grants-in-aid are scheduled to be financed from tuition fees, which will be paid by the so-called higher income group as an added cost of educating their children.

THUS, THE plan which may be wholly desirable insofar as an aid to financing higher education in California, appears to be wholly inequitable as it pertains to the people who already are paying the bills.

College Summer Programs Lauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I think these short summer programs for adults at colleges are a wonderful way to spend a vacation. Last summer my wife and I attended the eight-day vacation college at the University of Oregon in Eugene and found it very stimulating intellectual fare as well as a varied recreational program that was plain fun.

Stanford and Western Washington College have similar programs for their alumni, but the University of Oregon admits any adult. The people who attend are almost as interesting as the program. Some are young, some young only in heart — but all are alike in enjoying ideas and new experiences.

With the growing complexity of our society, most of us need "refresher courses." I hope the colleges are supported in their willingness to offer opportunities to keep up-to-date to adults of all ages.

Ways To Fight Housing Bias

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The letter by Richard L. Huff on July 19 dealing with rental discrimination as he has found it in Greenbrae was most distressing.

The Marin Committee for Fair Play had its beginning in the housing discrimination that existed in Marin County. Now we are involved in other areas of discrimination, in education and employment, but we still find our primary concern drawn to the obvious and not so obvious housing bias.

The present revamping of the Rumford Open Housing Act is moving in the direction of modification but continues to lay stress on discrimination in renting. Strong enforcement of this phase of fair housing would be aimed at the segregation that Huff feels exists in Greenbrae.

Steps individuals can carry out to reduce discrimination and to allow minority people an opportunity to find housing where they desire are:

If you find discrimination in renting or buying, make your displeasure known to the manager or broker.

Let Assemblyman William Bagley know of your attitude so he can be guided in the changes being voted on now.

Write Congressman Don Clausen of the need for congressional action in area of fair housing — the chance for anyone with means to rent or buy where he wishes.

Join with our group to create a better climate. Marin Committee for Fair Play, Box 194, San Rafael.

Cassel's Story Called Naive

Editor, Independent-Journal:

This is in reference to Louis Cassel's "Eyes Tell Tale of Hatred in Detroit," in the July 26, 1967, issue of the I-J.

A front page story such as Cassel's is as naive and trouble-inviting as the riots are criminal.

It is also damaging when public officials are too cautious to state bare facts and instead come out with statements such as Mayor Shelly's on television: "If we don't get federal anti-poverty funds, we are buying trouble."

The truth is that there is an irresponsible group of people, wallowing in self pity and a recent feeling of achievement, being agitated by organizers.

The cure is the fist not funds. Racial hatred is primitive and animalistic, but dealing with it is not.

Maybe Cassels would like to join the police force. I could not blame some officers if they retired.

When Will We Win In Vietnam?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The question "When are we going to win in Vietnam — and why not?" is one that every American should be asking. Why has our government placed such a high value on containment of Communism rather than victory over it? Is it not immoral to say the least to ask our boys to give their lives for anything less than victory? Is it not treasonous for Americans to deliver medicine and supplies to the Viet Cong?

Why are we striking at the tentacles of Commnism rather than its head in Vitnam? An example of this is the loss of American lives and planes in shooting down Soviet MIG fighters when the major MIG airfield at Phucyen, 16 miles from Hanoi is off limits to our bombers. Who ever should we try to win in Vietnam tary target off limits?

Why are we blockading Chiang Kai-Shek's 600,000 troops who are ready and willing to fight in the type of terrain that they know and who are well-armed and well-trained in guerrilla warfare?

Did our President wine and dine Hitler when we were at war with Germany? Then why did President Johnson treat Premier Kosygin in such a manner during the talks at Holly Bush? But then we didn't talk with our enemies, we beat them. I might add that gifts were bestowed upon Premier Kosygin and his wife by the President and Ladybird. Chummy wasn't it?

Why has the fallacy that a nuclear war will ensue should we try to win in Vietnam been promoted when it is obvious that Red China does not yet have the capability to start a nuclear war? I don't think that a nuclear test by China could be construed as having the means to deliver such a weapon. Russia surely wouldn't risk a nuclear war; not until the United States program for general and complete disarmament has been completed at any rate.

Why fight them in Vietnam and help them everywhere else by sending or "selling" them wheat, nuclear materials, jets, etc., when we could realize victory simply by not helping them? They would fall under their own inefficiency. Lastly, why should we build bridges with those who have sworn to bury us?

I challenge you to answer these questions honestly and then try to make some sense out of the way this war is being run. Let's win in Vietnam!

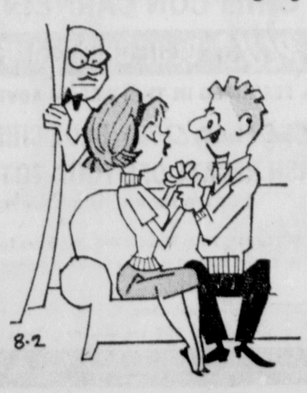
AN ENTERPRISING lad and his date were progressing swimmingly in the living room, but the date's father wasn't too happy at the head of the stairway above. "Tt's past midnight," he growled to his wife, "and I'm going down and throw that fresh twerp out." "Oh, Milton," she begged. "Don't be so harsh. Don't you remember how we used to act?"

"I certainly do," nodded the father. "That's whi I'm going to throw him out."



MISS JOHNSON had an argumentative kid in her high school English class who just couldn't stop talking. "Your boy is a fine student," she finally wrote the boy's father, "but can't you teach him it's bad manners always to monopolize the conversation? He talks too much." The boy's father wrote back, "Agreed—but you should meet his mother!"

'Free Speech' Drive Haunts Russ; Svetlana Is Thorn In Their Side

WASHINGTON — The Soviet government is having freedom trouble again. Russian writers and artists keep demanding less censorship, and when the regime makes small concessions, they ungratefully demand more.

The Kremlin's troublesome dilemma is: How to give creative people enough freedom to keep them content but not enough to risk the authority of the regime to dictate what they are to say and do.

It is not working out very well, and this raises the question as to why after months of silence the Soviet press is now pulling out all the stops in a harsh, bitter tirade against Moscow's most famous defector, Svetlana Alliluyeva Stalin, who left Russia so she could "breathe and write more freely." She is being accused of immorality, insanity, and treason.

From the Soviet viewpoint there may be good reasons.

BECAUSE THE Russian people could not be kept indefinitely in the dark, because the news of Svetlana's action gradually became known to more and more people inside Russia through U.S., European, and British broadcasts, the Kremlin either had to openly admit its press censorship or launch a counter offensive. It chose attack.

But more than that, the Kremlin is finding that it cannot entirely roll back the mounting demand among Soviet intellectuals, writers, artists, teachers, scholars, and particularly young people for freedom to speak and write and publish.

The rising cry for more freedom of the mind—not just freedom to buy more goods—is a little fearsome and rather difficult for the regime to cope with, and it knows that Svetlana Alliluyeva is a respected intellectual leader with the younger generation in Russia.

Since she is such, the regime feels it imperative to stigmatize her character and reduce in every possible way the influence of her voice and actions inside the Soviet Union and, ideally, inside the Communist ranks everywhere.

THE FACT is that the Soviets are finding it necessary to yield slowly, reluctantly, and timorously to these upsurging demands.

The bureaucrats were able to keep the hotly contested issue of censorship from getting on the agenda of the recent congress of Soviet writers, but they were unable to keep the bravely determined Alexander Solzhenitsyn, famous for his novel on Stalin's infamous labor camps, and 82 other artists from circulating a blazing indictment of all literary censorship. He told how his novels were suppressed and his manuscripts stolen by the police.

And he got results. His stolen manuscripts were returned and there is a promise that one of his novels will soon be published.

I SUSPECT that the Soviets must figure they are getting all the internal pressure for greater freedom they can stand without the prospect that Svetlana will be adding to it in her forthcoming book to be published soon in the U.S.

It will be published soon, that is, unless historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., just back from Moscow, succeeds in his effort to persuade publishers Harper and Row that it would be nice to hold the book back so it won't be read around the world during Moscow's 50th anniversary celebration of the Communist revolution.

WHY INTERVENE in the publishing plans for a book serving the cause of human freedom to make it easier for those who want to suffocate human freedom?

INSIDE WASHINGTON

President Johnson Faces Double Split

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — It is now virtually certain that President Johnson will face a double splintering of the Democratic party in 1968. Formation of two separate "third" parties is now in the discussion stage in the North and South.

One Democratic split will take shape soon as a "Peace Party."

The second party division will be led by George Wallace, former Alabama governor, who already is mapping strategy for the 1968 "Dixiecrat" walkout.

Foundations for the Peace party will be laid over Labor Day weekend, when more than 1,000 leaders of anti-Vietnam peace and civil rights groups, labor and student organizations gather in Chicago.

KEYNOTER FOR the five-day meeting (Aug. 31-Sept. 4) will be Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership, who privately is urging Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., to break with his party and become the 1968 Peace candidate.

The Chicago convention will be sponsored by the National Conference for New Politics, a grouping of civil rights, peace and Communist advocates, all disenchanted with President Johnson and the Vietnam war.

It will be the first time peace and civil rights groups have put their national joint strength on public display since last April's spring mobilization in New York.

KING PLANS to set the stage for his "grand political appearance" in Chicago by having his Southern Christian Leadership Conference enter partisan politics.

Announcement of this strategy will be made at the civil rights group's convention in Atlanta on Aug. 14-17—or about two weeks before King's Chicago address.

The decision of King's group will be in line with the political strategy of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, the recent Black Power Conference in New Jersey, and the U.S. Communist party. All three groups are urging and working for a civil-rights-peace political coalition for 1968.

THE COMMUNIST Party took the lead in launching the undercover drive for this new "political force" last November after Gus Hall, general secretary of the party, visited the Kremlin.

On his return from Moscow, Hall called together a select group of U.S. Red leaders in New York and announced the party would begin working to help select a "peace candidate" in 1968.

Significantly, when William F. Pepper, the New York-based executive director of the National Conference of New Politics, was questioned about his group's attitude toward Communist participation in the Chicago conference, he replied:

"We welcome the participation of all groups, but we will not accept domination by or the ideologies of any one group. Our idealogies have got to evolve out of our deeds. . . . We are breeding a new movement to crystalize what we call the all pervasive sickness in American society."

UNDER PEPPER'S tight-fisted direction a dozen full-time field organizers are contracting peace, civil rights, labor and student groups to send delegates to the peace party conference.

Tiburon's Long-Awaited Report Outlines Park, Play Proposals

The long-awaited annual report of the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission appeared along with the agenda for the second meeting in July of the city council.

In condensed form, here are some of the first-year accomplishments of the commission:

It adopted the downtown sketch plan, with some reservations, as a guide line for future planning, emphasizing an open waterfront esplanade combined with a scenic drive.

In meetings with Belvedere, the commission set up a youth recreation program for this summer, which is under way, and a youth work program, which was turned down by the council.

Commissioners started the wheels moving toward developing an un-named park adjacent to Pine Terrace, below Del Mar Estate.

A SUB-COMMITTEE recommended the name "Richardson Bay Park," which has been adopted. Three sets of benches and tables have been installed and two outdoor toilets. Landscaping is yet to be taken care of.

The commission's secretary, Russell Melquist, says the overhead power lines near the park were strung there temporarily by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and will be removed when some power lines have been rerouted.

Plans for uses of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad's right-of-way when abandoned, were considered. Commissioner George McKegney is still working on plans for hiking and biking trails. A mapping project of historical trails was also started.

A PROPOSAL FOR a railroad using a small train was heard at one meeting. But then, a Point Reyes promoter of small railroads reported it would not be feasible to run the tracks farther than the Trestle Glen area. The commission made it clear it wanted transportation for residents, not just for tourists.

I don't know why I have had such a hangup over Russell Melquist's name. Two weeks ago I referred to him as Russell Wilkerson maybe slotting his name phonetically with Wes Wilkes, of the county planning staff, who used to appear often at Tiburon Planning Commission meetings.

No small triumph over red tape has been achieved in the Tiburon city office in getting out the city council agenda. It used to be published Friday afternoon. More recently it has been available on Thursday afternoon, sometimes as early as Wednesday, before the following Monday meeting, fresh from steaming typewriters.

JULY WAS A rough month for another form of proposed transportation in Tiburon. The Belvedere City Council rejected an offer from Tiburon to pay any part of a $200 deficit for the nine-day tram experiment in June.

Councilman Thomas S. Price didn't favor using city money to promote a Tiburon project. He felt Belvedere commuters "would use it and participate on a regular basis," however.

Mayor John R. Moore said that for $200 the city could send its police chief to a convention.

Sally Mathews alone had a few kind words for sister city Tiburon, such as "some Belvedere commuters used the tram" and "I hate to turn Tiburon down cold."

Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel's motion was finally accepted to "send regrets" to Tiburon, but no money.

The plan is dormant now, but a flexible transportation plan of some kind is needed in small cities like Tiburon.

SPEAKING OF police chiefs, we are missing both of them in this area.

Newspapers, Television 'Make' Negro Leaders Feared Names

WASHINGTON — Negro "leaders" aren't born these days, but made — and, in most instances, by the news media.

Take the case of Robert Runneymeade as an example. Robert Runneymeade has been standing on the corner of Spring and Maple for the past three years (except when he's been in jail) saying to three or four hangers-on, "We ought to shake someone up." Nobody ever paid much attention to Robert Runneymeade until a few months ago when a reporter for a local newspaper, doing a story on violence in the ghettos, happened to overhear Runneymeade say to his friends: "Man, we ought to burn down this town."

THE NEXT DAY a story appeared in the paper that "Robert Runneymeade, a leader of the "black power" movement, told a militant crowd at Spring and Maple that it was time to burn down the town."

A television crew was dispatched the next evening to Spring and Maple where his pals were congratulating Runneymeade on making the front pages of the newspaper. The TV commentator stuck a microphone in front of Robert Runneymeade's face, lights were turned on and for the next 20 minutes, Runneymeade said, "The mayor, the city council, the 'honkies' and President Johnson have to talk to me."

The opposition television station sent out its camera crews to get the views of Runneymeade, and with all the lights and trucks a large crowd gathered, as they will when they see TV cameras.

THE NEWS MEDIA claimed that the crowd who had gathered were all Runneymeade's followers, when in fact most of them had never heard of Runneymeade, and those who knew him thought he was a joke.

But the press was not too interested as to how many followers Runneymeade really had. He was now talking about burning down the Yosemite National Park and this certainly had news value.

In the meantime the networks had plugged into Runneymeade and he started holding press conferences telling everyone, "I'm not going to take any stuff from anyone, and if I have to wipe out the U. S. Marine Corps I'm going to do it."

THE NEGRO PEOPLE still considered Runneymeade a joke, but the white people were scared out of their wits by his television appearances and his statements in the press. Things got so bad that when the President of the United States went on television to talk about the riots his statement was played on the bottom of the page, and a statement made by Runneymeade was given a six column headline.

It got so bad that no matter what happened, Runneymeade was the first interviewed as to what his opinion was on the issues of the day. Runneymeade was quoted on Red China, Vietnam, the Middle East crisis. He appeared on the covers of both leading news magazines. The majority of the Negro community kept insisting that Runneymeade did not speak for them, but no one could make a headline or a TV news story out of that.

SINCE THEY COULDN'T cover him any more, the news media sought out another "Negro leader" on the corner of Marble and Sycamore streets. His name was Huggins Haplap and he was overheard by a reporter the other day saying to a girl he was trying to impress, "I'm going to burn down the Grand Coulee Dam." It shouldn't be long before Haplap becomes a feared American household name.

HUB COUNCIL SAYS NO ON PAY VOTE

But Town Meeting's Leader Given Nod To Circulate Initiative Petitions

By CAROL MARSH

If the people of San Anselmo want a chance to vote on whether their councilmen should be paid, they will have to force the question on the ballot by an initiative petition.

The San Anselmo City Council, at a special meeting last night to consider recommendations of the April 29 town meeting, refused unanimously to put the matter of pay on the ballot. Councilmen John M. Reichmuth and Robert M. Scott, who voted against the ordinance establishing salaries, concurred with the rest of the council.

James F. Reed, chairman of the town meeting, volunteered to start such a petition, with the council's permission.

VOTE ON AMOUNT?

The council voted earlier to put on the ballot for the April 9 municipal election a question of whether the present salary of $150 a month per councilman should be reduced to $25 a meeting, with a maximum of $75 a month.

But the recommendation of the town meeting was that the people be allowed to vote on whether councilmen should be paid at all, and also on the amount.

After noting that he did not feel it would be fair to put the no-salary question on the ballot, Reichmuth noted: "We can vote $150 for ourselves without consulting anyone."

"If the electorate wants to sign a petition with 15 percent of the voters' signatures we will put it on the ballot anyway the people want it," Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro said.

"I'll do that, but only with the council's permission," Reed said.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Capurro told him he had the council's permission, and Reed confirmed that he would procede with the petition.

SIGNATURES NEEDED

John F. Musser Jr., assistant county clerk for elections, said today that in order to get the question on the ballot for the April municipal election, an initiative petition with signatures of 10 per cent of the city's 6,363 registered voters would have to be submitted. He said those circulating the petition have to publish their intention to circulate it, and can begin circulating it 21 days after the published notice. They then have six months in which to collect the signatures, within the limits of the time needed to handle the mechanics of getting the question on the ballot.

The rest of the town meeting's recommendations fared better. Many were already being carried out through the mayor's committee on financing capital improvements.

TRAFFIC STUDY

On the recommendation that the city have a professional study made of traffic circulation in the city, City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel said the council has already approved such a study , to be financed from gas tax funds.

The mayor's finance committee was already studying the recommendations that the city's street maintenance program be upgraded, that alternative solutions to Highway 17 be studied, that a bond issue be considered to finance capital improvements, that urban renewal be studied, that the city build a new public safety building and that development of the creek be considered.

USE OF RANCH

A committee is already working on the recommendation that Sorich Ranch be opened to the public as soon as possible, and a recommendation that the public be encouraged to aid in development of city property was referred to the parks and recreation commission.

The council asked Fire Chief Frank Sousa to study the possibility of consolidating fire service with surrounding areas, and to study the need for an ordinance regulating fire protection for private undeveloped lots. The planning commission has already prepared a draft of an ordinance. Following the recommendation that signs be regulated more closely.

Reed withdrew a recommendations that the city hire a full time city manager noting that Kaeppel is doing a good job. The council agreed to pursue with school boards the possibility of consolidating school and city elections.

New Staffers At Fort Baker

The U.S. Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker has announced five new general and special staff officers assigned to its sixth region command.

Officers assigned as assistant chiefs of staff are: Col. Donald L. Ducey, logistics; Col. Frank S. Osiecki, operations; Lt. Col. Paul J. Tate, intelligence. Assigned to the special staff are Lt. Col. Kenneth D. Hamilton as adjutant general and Capt. James R. Britton as judge advocate general.

Passengers, Driver Injured In Car Smashup

A driver and two young passengers from Mill Valley were injured at 7 p.m. Sunday when the car in which they were riding was in a three-car chain-reaction crash on St. Vincent's Hill across from Marinwood.

Cars driven by Hubertus Johannes Smith, 49, of 396 Pine Hill Road, Apt. 22, Mill Valley, and Leona Rose McMahon, 46, of San Carlos stopped in heavy northbound traffic, California Highway Patrol reported.

A vehicle driven by Edmond James Prosch, 54, of 115 Wisteria Way, Mill Valley, hit the McMahon car, pushing it into Smith's car, according to the patrol.

Donna Prosch, 9, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion, fractured ribs and face cuts. Kirsten Ruguger, 10, was treated for concussion and face cuts and released.

Both had the same address as Edmonds Prosch who was treated for multiple cuts and scrapes at the hospital.

Michelangelo's 14-foot statue of David was carved from a single block of imperfect marble that had been discarded as unusable by many other prominent sculptors.

CARROTS HAVE a variety of uses apart from going into the stew. Among their versatile uses is to cook them wtih orange, lemon, sugar and maybe pineapple for a delectable spread for toast. It also serves as a cake filling and they can be canned in a pickling solution.

Never Underate The Carrot

The carrot was brought by early settlers to the wilderness destined to become the U.S.A. Soon, some of its progeny escaped cultivation and became weeds in farmers' fields. The behavior of these "weedniks" caused people to look down on the whole carrot family. Many, many decades later, food scientists learned that this inexpensive vegetable is one of our most valuable foods.

One cupful of cooked, diced carrots contains over 18,000 units of Vitamin A. To be more exact, they contain carotene which the body converts into Vitamin A. They also supply small amounts of other vitamins and minerals.

Variety, growing conditions and age determine the carrot's color and flavor. Paleness suggests low carotene content. When overmature, the flavor is likely to be too robust for the average taste.

Although carrots have greatly increased in popularity since their true value was learned in the early nineteen twenties, many of us use them in only a few ways. For example, we are more likely to drop them into the stew pot than into the preserving kettle. Cook carrots with orange, lemon, sugar and maybe pineapple, and the result can be a delectable spread for the breakfast toast. It also serves well as a cake filling. Can them in a pickling solution flavored with a dash of originality, and persons who appreciate fine foods will hope you will share the recipe.

CARROT-ORANGE-PINEAPPLE MARMALADE

This is a smooth, subtly flavored marmalade studded with bits of pineapple.

Notes:

1. Oranges usually require more time than the carrots for precooking, so prepare them first. Unless a strong orange flavor is wanted, use sharp knife to remove the thin yellow part of peel. Quarter orange and chop or cut into bitsy pieces, then put with 2 cups water and cook until soft. Do not drain off liquid before combining with carrots.
2. If a more elaborate product is wanted, add ½ cup chopped filberts, pecans or walnuts to marmalade about 3 minutes before removing it from the heat.

RECIPE:

- 6 cups chopped carrots — takes 2½ to 3 pounds fresh carrots
- 2 medium-large, tart, seedless oranges
- 2 cups canned crushed or chopped fresh pineapple
- 2 lemons — use juice and pulp
- 5 or 6 cups sugar — use 6 with fresh pineapple
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon ground ginger
- ¼ teaspoon ground mace or nutmeg
- 1, 2 or 3-inch stick cinnamon — break into several pieces and tie in cloth

Thoroughly wash, rinse, drain, peel, chop and measure carrots, then cook until soft in water to cover. Drain carrots and mix with undrained orange (see note 1). Twirl mixture in blender until smooth, or force it through a fine sieve. Put all ingredients into kettle and boil rapidly until thick, or to about 9 degrees F. above the boiling point of water in your locality. Mixture thickens a bit after cooling, so don't overcook. Quickly skim off foam and pour marmalade to within about ⅛ inch of the top of pint or half-pint fruit jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Makes about 4 pints.

PARTY FARE
CARROT STICKS

The flavor of this pickle is unlike that of ordinary carrot sticks. You may use more or less sugar and change seasonings to please your taste, but DO NOT reduce the vinegar.

NOTES:

1. Use only fine fresh spices and high grade vinegar.
2. 2 pounds carrots trimmed, peeled and cut into 2½ to 3-inch sticks measure about 1 quart.
3. About 1 cup of pickling solution is needed for each pint of pickle.
4. Use one of those cheap vegetable peelers found on kitchen gadget counters for quickest and neatest way to peel carrots.
5. The United States Department of Agriculture and other nationally accepted authorities recommend that all pickled products be processed for a short time in a boiling-water bath canner.

SOLUTION FOR PICKLING CARROT STICKS

- 2½ cups white vinegar of 5 per cent acid strength — check bottle label
- 2½ cups water
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt — more or less may be used to suit taste
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 teaspoons dried tarragon leaves — look for it on spice counter
- 1, 2-inch piece ginger root — pound to crush
- 1 teaspoon whole allspice
- ½ teaspoon whole cloves
- 2, 2 or 3-inch sticks cinnamon — break into several pieces
- 10 drops Tabasco, or amount to suit taste

Measure vinegar, water, sugar and salt into kettle large enough to hold carrot sticks. Add spice bag made by tying bay leaf, garlic, tarragon, ginger and spices in cloth. Bring mixture to a full boil, add Tabasco, reduce heat and let barely simmer while preparing carrots.

TO MAKE THE PICKLE

For about 2 quarts carrot sticks, you will need:

- 2 tablespoons yellow mustard seed
- 4 tablespoons dill seed

Thoroughly wash, rinse twice, drain, peel and cut carrots into ¼ inch, at widest part, by 2½ to 3-inch pieces. When all are prepared, rinse, drain and drop them into the pickling solution. Boil 10 minutes. Put pickle in bowl and let stand overnight or longer. Taste; add more sugar, salt or other seasoning if wanted. Boil pickle 3 minutes. Place an upright layer of hot carrots in fruit jar. If using quart jar, sprinkle 1 tablespoon mustard seed and 2 tablespoons dill seed over the carrots. Finish filling jar to within about ½ inch of top, add boiling hot solution to cover carrots. Wipe off anything spilled on top or threads of jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Process 10 minutes in boiling water. Pickle is at its best when chilled. Leftover solution makes nice dressing for such things as beets, cabbage and cauliflower.

Meat Buying For Freezer Favorite Homemakers' Topic

When homemakers get together, a favorite topic of conversation is meat buying. One inevitable question is whether to buy a quarter or side of beef for the freezer. Should you or shouldn't you?

What you really want to know is whether you can save money if you buy beef by the quarter or side. As you might expect, the answer takes some thought and some figuring. Consider the cost, quality and your family needs and preferences.

Your first thought is of the sizable outlay of money. How much beef will you get? Quantity meat distributors usually sell beef for your freezer on the basis of "hanging weight." That means it is untrimmed and complete with bones. This is an accepted selling practice . . . but you need to understand it.

About one-fourth of hanging weight will be waste. If the side of beef weighs 200 pounds, you will pay for that much. You will receive about 150 pounds of beef cuts.

No doubt, you are thinking about all those lovely, tender steaks at a reasonable price. How many steaks? Unfortunately, even when you buy a side of beef, there is no magic way to turn it all into steaks. About one-fourth of the total weight will be steaks for broiling. The exact number of steaks depends on how thick they are cut.

Another one-fourth of the carcass weight will be roasts and the remaining one-fourth will be ground beef, stew meat and the like. Look over the list of cuts. Does your family like them all? Or will some of them get pushed in the freezer until you finally find the courage to throw them away? If this is true, then maybe you will be money ahead to buy wholesale cuts — such as rounds, loins or chucks. The other possibility is to stick to buying favorite cuts at retail.

All this time, you have been thinking about beef quality. Your guides, of course, are the grades . . . packer grades, retailer grades or Federal grades. If you are satisfied with the beef quality in your retail market, then any carcass beef you buy should be of comparable quality.

Now then, will buying beef by the side or quarter save money? You know the price you will pay . . . the hanging weight times the price per pound. You know approximately how much of each cut you will receive. What you need to do now is figure the cost of similar beef cuts at retail. Your money saving may be in buying retail cuts when they are on special sale. The special sales occur about every three weeks for the less tender cuts and about every five weeks for the more tender ones.

Thrill Chutney-Loving Friends With Conserve Or A Sauce

These recipes are for budget watchers, but there is nothing about the flavor of either the chutney or conserve to suggest economy.

There are two general types of chutney. One has a jam-like consistency; the other contains fairly large pieces of fruit in a thick, hot, tart, salty sauce.

APPLE AND TOMATO CHUTNEY

Use tart apples which hold shape well in cooking, and firm, red-ripe tomatoes. Unless you know of a food shop which caters to Oriental or Spanish trade, better forget about green ginger. When possible, buy crystallized ginger in bulk; costs less that way.

- 1 slightly heaped quart sliced apples
- ⅓ cup sliced green ginger, or
- ½ cup crystallized ginger
- ¾ teaspoon ground ginger
- 2 cups sugar
- 1½ cups cider vinegar
- 2 cloves garlic — mince or put through garlic press
- ½ cup Worcestershire sauce
- 3 cups sliced tomatoes
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 cup grated or finely chopped onion
- 1 small pod chili, or ¼ pod cayenne pepper
- 1 cup lime juice
- 1 cup raisins

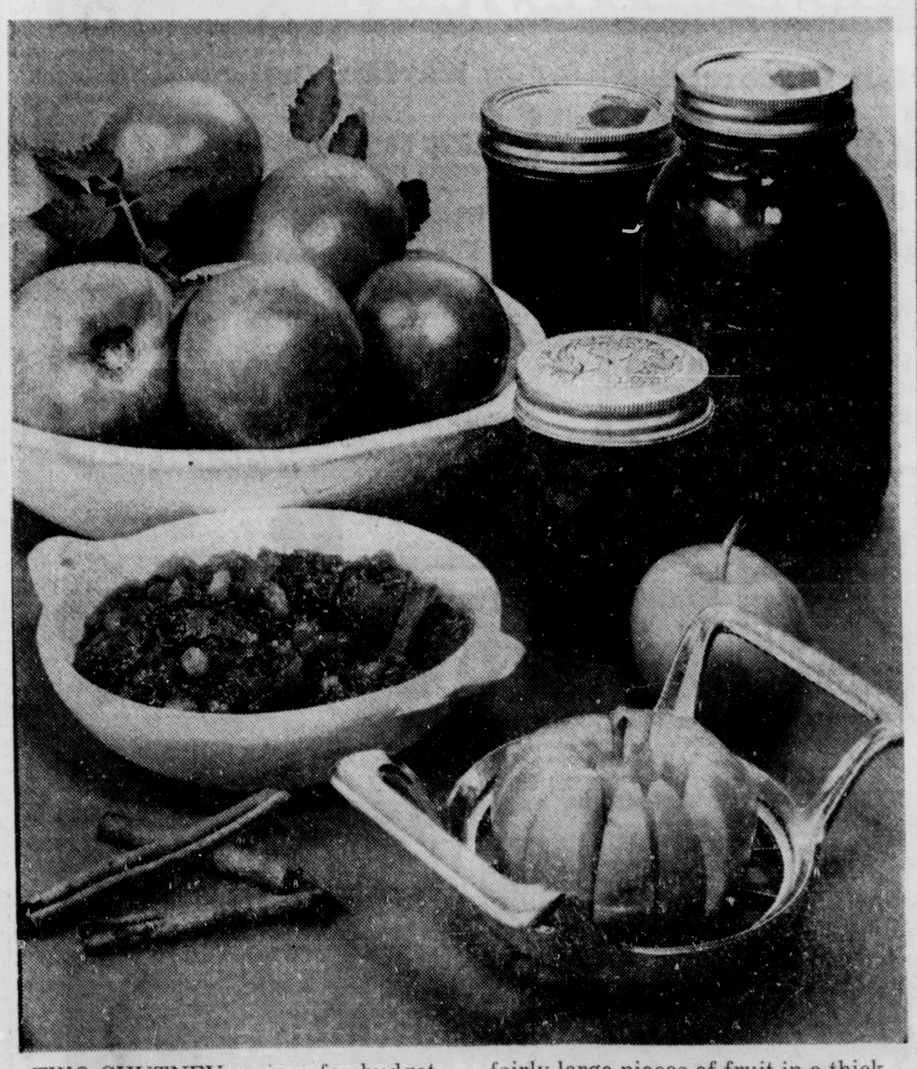
Peel, core and cut apples into ¼ to ½ inch lengthwise slices. Cut slices into halves or quarters. Measure slices into bowl and cover with brine made of 2 tablespoons salt to each quart of water. Use plate to hold apples under brine. Let stand 18 to 24 hours. Don't worry if apples darken. If using green ginger, scrub, scrape and slice before measuring, then cook until tender in water to cover; save the water. Combine ginger, sugar, vinegar, garlic, Worcestershire and ¼ cup water in which ginger was precooked (use plain water with crystallized ginger.). Cook until sugar dissolves, add well drained apples and cook until they are somewhat clear as in preserves. Then remove apples so they won't cook to pieces. While apples are cooking, scald, core, skin and slice tomatoes. Quarter slices before measuring. After removing apples, add all other ingredients to syrup and cook until onions are mushy and mixture is almost as thick as wanted. Add the cooked apples and more seasoning if wanted. Cook a few minutes longer. Pour hot chutney to within ¼ inch of top of pint or half-pint fruit jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Makes 2 or 3 pints.

TOMATO AND APPLE CONSERVE

Use firm, red-ripe tomatoes and tart, preferable slightly underripe apples.

- 1 quart sliced tomatoes
- 1 large or 2 small seedless oranges
- 1 large lemon
- 1 quart sliced apples
- 4 to 5 cups sugar — use 5 for a quite sweet conserve
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon each ground ginger, nutmeg and cinnamon
- ¾ cup raisins or currants — may be omitted

Scald, core, skin and slice tomatoes. Quarter slices before measuring. Remove peel from orange and lemon, and boil it 5 to 10 minutes in water to cover. Drain peel, and cut or chop into tiny pieces, add to tomatoes, and cook until peel is soft. Cut peeled orange and lemon into small pieces. Peel, core and slice apples. Cut slices into wedges. Measure. Add all ingredients to the tomatoes after orange and lemon peels are soft and boil rapidly, stirring often, until mixture thickens, or to 8 or 9 degrees F. above the boiling point of water in your locality. Quickly skim off foam and pour hot conserve to within about ⅛ inch of top of pint or half-pint fruit jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Makes 2 or 3 pints.



TWO CHUTNEY recipes for budget watchers—one has a jam-like consistency while the other contains fairly large pieces of fruit in a thick, hot, tart and salty sauce. Almost any type of fruit can be used in chutney.

Spinach Noodles Will Spice Up Summer Menus

Lamb Chops
Bacon Spinach Noodles
Carrot Sticks Hot Rolls
Fruit Cup Hot Beverage

BACON SPINACH NOODLES

- 6 slices bacon
- 1 package (8 ounces) spinach egg noodles
- 3 tablespoons sweet butter
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- ¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Skillet-cook or broil the bacon until crisp; drain and crumble; keep warm. Cook spinach noodles according to package directions; turn into a colander to drain. In the rinsed noodle pot, over very low heat, melt the butter and heat the oil: add the noodles, bacon and ½ cup of the cheese; toss thoroughly. Remove from heat; quickly mix in the remaining ¼ cup cheese. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Study Shows Groups Differ In Susceptibility To Heart Attacks

First in a series of three articles dealing with diet and heart disease, provided by the Marin County Heart Assn. as a public education service.

Three different groups of Japanese living in three different areas — Japan proper, Hawaii, the U. S. West Coast — and eating three different types of diet — what can they teach us about heart attack susceptibility?

According to Dr. Ancel Keys, globe-trotting researcher from the University of Minnesota, a great deal. With Heart Fund support, Dr. Keys has been studying living habits of various Asian, European and American population groups (some 16,000 people in all) in an effort to explain why peoples around the world differ in their susceptibility to heart attack, which takes more than half a million American lives each year.

AMONG THE Japanese in Japan, Dr. Keys points out, only 13 per cent of the average daily caloric intake comes from fats, and these fats are largely of the polyunsaturated variety found in fish and vegetable oils. The blood cholesterol levels of these Japanese (who subsist mainly on fish and rice) average a low 160 (milligrams per 100 cubic centimeters of blood).

The Japanese in Hawaii eat fish too, but they also consume meat, eggs and dairy products (all rich cholesterol sources) and derive about 32 per cent of their calories from fats. Their cholesterol count: an average of around 220. Finally, the U.S.-born Nisei eat a typical fat-rich American diet. In Los Angeles they have a cholesterol average of about 245 (slightly higher than white men of the same ages in that city).

What about the three groups' relative susceptibility to heart attack? Says Dr. Keys: For every heart attack observed in Japan, there are four among the Japanese in Hawaii — and 10 among the Nisei!

THERE'S MORE to heart attack risk than elevated blood cholesterol, of course, as Dr. Keys points out. Other factors — such as a person's sex (maleness), cigarette smoking, overweight, lack of physical activity, unfavorable heredity, high blood pressure and diabetes — have also been identified as factors raising a person's risk of heart attack.

But certainly a high level of cholesterol (and other fats) in the blood is strikingly related to heart attack risk. Encouragingly enough, the Japanese example, combined with examples from other nations suggests how diet can be used to bring down blood cholesterol levels, and with them, the risk of heart attack.

HOW? The Marin County Heart Assn. has recommended the following dietary changes:

1. Substitute polyunsaturated fats for saturated fats whenever possible. Reason: polyunsaturated (found in fish, poultry, many vegetable oils) tend to lower blood cholesterol. Saturates (whole milk products and meat) tend to raise them.

2. Eat less fat. Instead of obtaining 40-45 per cent of their calories from fat, Americans could learn to get along with, say 30-35 per cent. Since each gram of fat supplies nine calories compared with four for protein or carbohydrates, this dietary modification would tend to lower total caloric intake. It would help overcome overweight, another heart attack hazard, all too widespread in the U. S.

A strong advocate of an even lower low-fat (25-30 per cent) cholesterol-lowering diet, Dr. Keys says you don't have to sacrifice culinary pleasures in order to get blood cholesterol levels down and keep them down.

THE MINNESOTA investigator says people should get into the habit of eating less meat, fewer eggs and dairy products. If you must eat meat, he suggests choosing veal over the so-called "carver's meat" — steaks and roast beef. But if you do eat these meats, make sure they are lean and fat trimmed.

He recommends more fish, chicken, Canadian bacon and Italian dishes in which a little meat is made to go a long way. He says, too, that legumes and fresh fruit offer additional means of reducing cholesterol. An ingredient in fruit, pectin, is a cholesterol-lowering agent. The reasons legumes are helpful — as recent controlled studies in India, Holland and the U.S. have indicated—have yet to be determined.

Party Cheese Roll

This is an old and delectable party-ready cheese roll recipe that bears repeating. Mash ½ pound processed sharp Cheddar cheese with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese. Add 1 clove crushed garlic and a dash of Worcestershire sauce; mix well. Roll into 2 slender (1-inch) cylinders. For flavor and color variety, roll cylinders in chopped parsley, chives, paprika or nuts. Wrap in waxed paper, chill overnight or longer. Slice and serve on crisp butter crackers.

Chicken Meat Balls in Giblet Gravy

For interesting variety—a different and delightful new recipe for meat balls using tender and sweet chicken meat.

Prepare chicken meat balls the quickest and easiest way, with a jar of boned chicken. After all of the ingredients have been mixed together and formed into balls, chill for at least 1 hour. This allows the chicken and seasonings to blend and the meat balls to become firm.

Lynden Giblet Gravy is ideal with chicken meat balls. It comes in the handy 7¾-oz. can and is rich with chicken giblets and tastes as a chicken gravy ought to, homemade and delicious.

- 1 11-oz. jar Lynden Boned Chicken
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 Lynden egg, beaten
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- ⅓ cup toasted bread or cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1 7¾-oz. can Lynden Chicken Giblet Gravy
- ⅓ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate

Empty boned chicken into mixing bowl. Dice large pieces. Mix well with soft bread crumbs, egg, onion, poultry seasoning, salt and parsley. Form into 12 balls and roll in toasted bread or cracker crumbs. Chill 1-2 hours. When ready to cook, melt butter in skillet, add mushrooms and saute for 2-3 minutes. Lift out and set aside. Replace with chicken balls and brown well on all sides. Cover and cook about 10 minutes.

In small saucepan heat together mushrooms, giblet gravy, milk and monosodium glutamate. Place chicken balls in serving dish and pour giblet gravy over the top. Serve with additional giblet gravy if desired.

Serves 4.

Marinites Home After Vacations

By MOLLY MARIN

Home in Sausalito from two weeks in Hawaii are the C. Fred Hoffmans. Highlights of their trip, Mrs. Hoffman says, were staying at the fabulous Rockefeller Mauna Kea resort on the island of Hawaii and the Hanalei Plantation, where the musical "South Pacific" was filmed on the garden island of Kauai. They also spent a short time in Honolulu.

BACK FROM a six week visit in Belvidere, Ill., is Mrs. John Dole of Marinwood. Mrs. Dole and her son, Jim, stayed with her sister, Mrs. Gerald Hyser. The town, hit by a devastating tornado in April is slowly recovering, she said, but much evidence of the natural disaster remains. She heard stories of both heroism and tragedy during her visit. Friends and family members asked about Marin's Belvedere, where a citizen committee, working with the Marin Chapter of the American Red Cross, raised funds which were sent to assist in replacing a school bus. According to Mrs. Dole, 20 school buses were lost in the disaster. A family from Belvidere, Ill., touring California, stopped at the Boardwalk in Belvedere last week, interested in visiting the "namesake city" which had expressed concern for the midwest town in its time of trouble.

DISNEYLAND was the vacation spot for several days for the Chester MacPhees Sr. of Marin Country Club Estates and the Chester MacPhees Jr. and their four children of Chester III, Robert, Matthew and Christy of Ross. They all stayed at Disneyland Hotel and enjoyed the many new additions at Disneyland.

THE ALEXIS Tellises and their four children are having an extraordinary summer working on vacation facilities of Oriental splendor. Tired of rugged style camping, they decided to do it while enjoying the last word in luxury. While living on their Sausalito houseboat they have been outfitting a 22-foot life raft in Egyptian style with canopy, low couches and cushions, and it will have an outboard motor. They are having a local sail maker create a tent in purple, gold and pink that is to be furnished in Arabian style, complete with Oriental rugs and even a chandelier. This will then be transported to a truck they have equipped with kitchen facilities and dressing rooms for use before and after swimming when they go to their favorite spot, New Hope Landing on the Mokelumne River.

"PLEASE join us in a toast to Garry and Lori" read invitations sent by Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Gast of Belvedere to a reception to be held at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, 6 to 8 p.m. Aug. 10. The party will honor their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Gast. The new Mrs. Gast is the former Lori Hampton of San Jose. She is the sister of Mrs. John Dreyfous of Belvedere. The couple, who are in Marin for the summer, will return to the University of Oregon this fall, where Garry is a pre-dental student. Family friends and friends of the newlyweds will attend.

VISITING the R. Jerrold Hoopers in Sausalito are their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hauser of Woodstock, N.Y., and their children Andrea and Eric, who joined them after a month in Mexico.

MRS. JAMES Smith has returned to Sausalito from a trip to Los Angeles and La Jolla to visit her sisters. Returning with her for a visit was her sister, Mrs. Victor Berry of Los Angeles.

MR AND MRS. Howard Crabtree and their daughters, Jennifer and Cindy of Novato returned home Saturday from a trip to Washington State. They attended Howard's 25th high school class reunion at

Louise de Prado Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Louise de Prado to Geoffrey Canfield Pryor of San Rafael has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. de Prado of Forbestown. Louise is the sister of William Anthony de Prado and the granddaughter of Mrs. Reed Harris, both of Mill Valley.

Geoffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pryor of Edmunds, Wash., and the brother of Joan Pryor of Mill Valley, Mrs. L. E. Canfield of Larkspur is his grandmother.

The bride-elect attended Drew School and College of Marin and is employed as a dental assistant in San Francisco.

Lingerie Shown In Kaleidoscope

New York's young and successful designer Deanna Littell believes in color beneath, too, for winter. In a collection of lingerie for Warner's, she creates a kaleidoscope of racy shades with the comment, "Even the most timid soul can express her hidden desire to wear color and print." Miss Littell has a word about slip and chemise lengths too. They should be short enough not to show "even with your arms above your head."

Betty Pascoe To Be Bride Sept. 30

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pascoe of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter, Betty Normoyle, to Craig Palm Scheiner, son of Paul Scheiner of Tiburon and the late Mrs. Leila Scheiner.

Betty is the sister of Gerry, Kathy, Ed and Danny Pascoe, all of San Rafael and they are the grandchildren of Percy Pascoe of Santa Rosa and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Larrieu of Healdsburg.

Craig's brother, Brent Scheiner, also resides in Tiburon. They are the grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Palm of San Francisco. Craig is a film editor with KTVU television.

Following a small family wedding planned for Sept. 30, the couple will make their home in Mill Valley.

FURRY AND FLOWERY accessories will definitely perk up an outfit as is demonstrated by Mesdames James Dougan, left, and James Alberigi Jr. Clothing sales will be managed by Mrs. Rosie Vierra with Mrs. Edward Bourne overseeing hats, bags and shoes.

Why should your ring be?

It's a new look. It's a new feel. It's a giant step forward in diamond rings. It's the "In" set. Look at your finger. It isn't round. It actually has sides. Now look at our ring design. That's what the "In" sets are all about. They actually fit the natural contour – prevent annoying turning on your finger. What's more, the "In" sets are extra strong at points of most wear. We think it's the most beautiful shape wedding rings have ever been in. And nobody else has them. A. Solitaire with matching 2 diamond wedding band, $300. B. Solitaire set with plain band, $200. C. Eleven diamond set in fishtail style, $400. D. Ten diamond set, $500.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Teen-Ager Not For Television-Watching, Beer-Drinking Hubby

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 16-year-old girl who is afraid of getting married. I'm not anti-men, but I'm frightened that after I marry I'm going to fall out of romantic love.

I look at my parents and know they don't love each other. They are just tolerating marriage, because there's nothing better to do.

Now I look at what is supposed to be a happy couple. The husband helps the wife with the housework, etc. They take trips with the kids. Oh, it's so-o-o-o dull!

I can't see working the rest of my life for my children either. I don't like kids, and please don't tell me I'll love them when they're mine, as I see lots of people who don't like their children a bit, and act it. But if I don't have babies what is there? Just an empty life with a television-watching, beer-drinking husband. No thanks!!

Please don't misunderstand me. I want to fall in love. I've even met fellows I think I could love. But I don't want to ruin it all with marriage — HELP!

DEAR HELP:

Know something? At age 16 I, too, considered marriage a dull, uninteresting trap, and if children were like the two I baby-sat, forget 'em!

Know something else? Their half-baked ideas saved me a lot of grief. While some of my love-blinded friends wed and shed before they were 20, I spent those years growing up and gradually learning that "romantic love" isn't enough: friendship, laughter and sharing are what make a marriage sparkle.

You'll discover this too if you compare the unhappy couples with the ones who enjoy life and each other. And you'll be able to choose the right man when he comes along.

Meanwhile, stop worrying and aim at a career. You're lucky to have an "invisible shield." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am fat, but not really fat as I'm well-proportioned. I am 14 and weigh 200 pounds. At dances the boys never ask me. At school I act like I can beat them up and cuss something terrible. If I acted more like a lady, would they ask me to dance? — TWO PROBLEMS

DEAR TWO:

Probably not — until you lose considerable excess baggage — though it would be a good start. Your doctor can solve the weight problem, but only you can lick that lip! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please ask your readers to write to a smart little girl who will be staying in a crippled children's hospital for quite a long while? She was born with an open spine, has already had seven operations in her seven years of life, and will need about ten more. She is confined to bed and is presently undergoing a series of six operations to correct her hips. She loves to get cards and letters.

Her name and address, Dorene Giacopini, Newington Hospital for Crippled Children, 181 East Cedar St., Newington, Conn.

Thank you.—SUSAN

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Grandview and then went on to Cheland to visit his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Ball. Before returning home, they visited with Col. and Mrs. William E. O'Donavon at Fort Lewis, where Carolyn said they slept in the bedroom that former president Dwight Eisenhower occupied when he was stationed at Fort Lewis in 1940.

MRS. MICHAEL Kutsko of Sausalito and her little daughter, Kimberly, have returned from a month's visit in Boston with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh. A dramatic soprano, Lori has joined the Talent Bank of the San Francisco Opera and will be performing in their productions this fall. She was winner for the bay area in this year's district Metropolitan Opera auditions.

MR. AND MRS. Earl Thompson have returned to Sausalito from a vacation visiting friends in Seattle a their summer home on Lake Wenatchee. They also went to Victoria, B.C., and took cruises through the San Juan and Golf islands.

MEMBERS OF the Nazareth House Auxiliary and resident guests of the house in Terra Linda have just opened a boutique shop which features arts, crafts and needlework. Joan Sibbald Is Bride In Trinity Lutheran Ceremony

San Rafael's Trinity Lutheran Church was the setting on San Rafael on July 22 for the wedding of Joan Sibbald of San Anselmo and William Costello of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kent Sibbald of San Anselmo.

Maureen Sibbald of San Anselmo was maid of honor for her sister and Patricia Costello of San Rafael, the bridegroom's sister, was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of yellow chiffon over taffeta.

James Costello of San Rafael brother of the bridegroom, Kern was best man for his brother and ushers were Frederick Costello of San Rafael, another Sibbald, the bride's brother and Paul Becker.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin and Chico State College.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Costello of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School, College of Marin and Chico State.

Nazareth Group Opens A Boutique

With an addition to the infirmary fund in mind, members of Nazareth House Auxiliary and resident guests of the house at 245 Nova Albion Way, Terra Linda, have opened a boutique shop featuring arts, crafts and needlework.

The new shop, located in the main entrance of Nazareth House, is supplied by goods made in weekly classes and is open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays. Craft chairman Mrs. Elmo Cerruti and co-chairman Mrs. Anthony Morretti hope to enlist more volunteer workers to aid the Auxiliary in this group project which meets every Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon. Also in need of volunteer assistance is Mrs. Richard Slattery of Greenbrae who has charge of transportation for the Nazareth House residents.

Dior Raincoats In Paisley, Velvet

When do raincoats look the least like raincoats? One answer: When designer Gaston Bertholet does them for Christian Dior-New York. The fall raincoat collection includes yellow cire fabric made into a double-breasted go-anywhere coat, black and white printed silk double-breasted coat with black velvet trim, and a black and many-colored paisley printed cotton in a loose shape.

YE YE MUSIC

Courreges Shows Lots Of Flowers

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — Huge gay flowers splattered over short dresses and pants suits today marked the 1967 Andre Courreges look.

That is, that was the impression gained after bobbing up and down trying to see the Courreges mannequins who joyously frugged their way through the fashion show to Ye-Ye music.

By the end of the show, the girls' hair was soaking wet in Paris' hottest weather in eight years, and so were some of the clothes.

Courreges, the master tailor who started the bare knees and pants revolution, showed the rest of Paris how it's done, both in designing clothes and presentation.

To have a new Courreges, as apart from the 1966 models, you have to have flowers appliqued all over short pants suits of wool or velveteen with little matching jackets and white T-shirts.

FLOWERS also were sewn on long pants with matching jackets or one-piece jump suits with low-slung belts, on velvet or wool. The Courreges mannequins usually wore one big plastic flower on the side of their heads.

For evening the flowers showed up in lace or in pink or yellow sequins sewn on white wool or organdy dresses or short pants suits.

White flowers also decorated knee socks. One pair of white latticework bare midriff evening pajamas sported huge orange plastic flowers.

Thank heaven, the only mid-calf items in Courreges wildly cheered show for the press were his white socks.

Hemlines swung about five inches above the knee. The socks were worn with flat soft shoes like moccasins. Boots nearly to the knee appeared with daytime outfits.

ONE SERIES of coats and dresses combined white with solid colors or checks in huge insets. There was a raft of his little white dresses with welted seams, sometimes in scallop shape. Coats often had Peter Pan collars, dogbone-shaped back half-belts and patch pockets or huge oval pockets.

Courreges used accordion pleats for the first time in day dresses, such as a highwaisted one in red-and-white checked wool under a red coat. Many of his dresses had a softer look via Peter Pan collars and little sleeves.

Like the rest of Paris, Courreges used chocolate brown. One stunner was a brown and white plaid coat over a white dress with a high narrow brown belt.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Corte Madera.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Hospital Volunteer Council Re-Elects Mrs. John Finn

MRS. JOHN FINN

Mrs. John Finn III of Mill Valley has been re-elected chairman of the Council of Volunteers of Marin General Hospital.

Parnel Finn has worked as a Pink Lady for two years and has served as treasurer of the council. Last year she was elected chairman.

Among her many activities in Marin is her work with Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa. She has also been a Red Cross drive chairman and Music Chest drive chairman. She was a member of the Girl Scout board of directors for three years. She has been a member of Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club board of directors for seven years and is a member of Founders Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital Volunteers.

Members of the council working with Mrs. Finn are Mesdames William Steen of Belvedere, vice chairman; Peter Behr of Mill Valley, treasurer; Ray Ferrari of Greenbrae, secretary, Charles Allen, Alvin Baukol, Howard Burns, R. J. Chutter, Michael Cleary, Thomas Guerin, Charles Kennedy, William Kitchin, K. H. Laymon, Harry Sannar and Thornton Sheehy.

German Border Causing Bars To Marriage

BERLIN, Germany (GF) — Marriages between couples living in eastern and western Germany have become extremely difficult since the Communist built wall. Requests have to be filed by the parties in both halves of the divided nation with Communist officials, who can reject or approve.

They generally turn down such requests, but now they have even increased the difficulty of all-German marriages by often refusing to accept requests.

According to the formal Communist rules, it is still possible to obtain permission, but more and more couples are finding that local Red officials decline to accept the requests and even when they do now, it is only under certain conditions.

One is that the partner living in the western half of the country agrees to move to the Communist-controlled eastern half regardless of whether its the prospective wife or husband.

Red Cross Project To Send Christmas Gifts To Vietnam

Shop Early is the name of the Red Cross project to send packages to American forces in South Vietnam this Christmas. Last year the Marin Chapter, assisted by local businesses and individuals sent over 300 packages.

This year the goal is 600 Christmas packages. Already underway by inmates at San Quentin is the assembling of the denim bags of donated material. Individuals are urged to donate items, gift wrapped with an indication of contents, by Sept. 1; writing materials, such as packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, address books, ballpoint pens; personal grooming aids, such as nail clippers, plastic toothbrush holder, plastic cigarette cases, plastic soapbox, combs, packets of shoe polish; windproof cigarette lighters; new paperback books; pocket games, especially those which can be placed in plastic bags or containers, such as small decks of playing cards, chess, checkers.

Foods suggested are small tins of nuts or candies, vacuum-packed. All items must be new. Unsuitable are liquids, glass containers, combustibles, food or any item that would melt or deteriorate in heat, medicaments of any kind, and religious or political items of literature.

Gifts may be left at the Chapter headquarters, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. Mrs. Gloria Ladd, chairman of the project, is calling for helpers to wrap and pack these bags during the week of Sept. 11.

Court Will Hold Dinner Tomorrow

Court Saint Raphael, No. 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, is hostessing a pot luck dinner tomorrow at 6:30 p.m., in St. Raphael's social hall. There will be games following the dinner. Planning the event are Mesdames Irving Hobbs and Henry Augusto.

Debbie L. Barton Becomes Bride

Tomales Presbyterian Church was the setting for the wedding of Debbie L. Barton of Tomales and William N. Linderud on Thursday.

Debbie, the daughter of Mrs. Phyllis Barton and the late K. B. Barton of Tomales, was given in marriage by her brother, Kellis. She wore a white brocade A-line shift. Her veil was designed and made by her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Stwalley. Lynda K. Hafner, wearing a gown of pink brocade was her sister's only attendant.

The bride was graduated from Tomales High School.

Best man for the bridegroom was Charles Burtz and ushers were Allen Green and Pert Burd, all of Two Rock Army ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Linderud of Stoughton, Wis. are the bridegroom's parents. He is completing his fourth year in the Army and is stationed at Two Rock. The couple will reside at Two Rock following a wedding trip to Wisconsin, where the bridegroom's parents will honor them with a reception.

The parents of the bridegroom and his sister, Susan and the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stwalley of Hutchinson, Kan. attended the wedding.

OLIVA EMOTES

Valda Claire, who plays Olivia in "Twelfth Night," is shown in a scene from the play during the Marin Shakespeare Festival production. The festival is presenting "King Lear" and "Twelfth Night" in alternating production at 8:30 p.m. at the Forest Meadows Theater. The festival will continue on Wednesdays through Saturdays this month, and on Fridays and Saturdays through Sept. 23.

FESTIVAL DRAMA—George Ede as Lear stands over Philip Sheridan as the Fool in the Marin Shakespeare Festival production of "King Lear." The festival this year is also presenting "Twelfth Night."

Senator Asks News Agreement On Riots

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says the news media should draft a "code of emergency procedure" that would insure civil disturbances are reported in ways that are not inflammatory.

The senator told a news conference yesterday that reporting of inflammatory statements should be balanced by appeals for law and order.

"I'm a First Amendment (freedom of the press) man myself," Scott said. "But I'm pleading for a balanced commentary."

Scott said complaints from his constituents prompted him to appeal for more balance.

In letters to the American Broadcasting Corp., Associated Press, Columbia Broadcasting System, Mutual Broadcasting Co., National Broadcasting Co. and United Press International, Scott said:

"I am greatly concerned about the newspaper and radio and television coverage of the recent riots and civil disturbances throughout the country. I believe that the news media, in many instances, inadvertently contributed to the turmoil.

"I recommend that the news industry confer with specialists in civil liberties, the Justice Department, representatives of local and state law enforcement agencies, and civic organizations to draw up a code of emergency procedure to be followed in reporting riots and incidents or speeches which could spark disturbances or permit militants to signal opportunities for disturbances in other areas.

"Such a code must be consistent with freedom of speech, a constitutional privilege which, of course, must be guarded vigilantly. Nevertheless, concentration on the sensational aspects of the situation and the frequent broadcast of appeals to riot by extremists raise a serious question as to the editorial responsibility and the discretion of the media.

Glassy Outlook

NEW YORK (UPI)—When astronauts blast off for Mars, their gravity pills may well be packaged in glass bottles. The space-age packaging creation is projected in a Glass Container Manufacturers Institute report that also depicts such packaging ideas as bottled bikinis, golf balls by the jar, and bottled diamonds.

Beatle Pair Arrive In Hippie Garb

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Beatle George Harrison arrived from London yesterday to attend a Hollywood Bowl concert featuring Indian Ravi Shankar.

Harrison and his wife, model Patti Boyd, were met by friends who whisked them off to an undisclosed hideaway.

When he left London, Harrison told newsmen he planned to be away about a week. The concert will be Friday night.

About 200 fans who waited at the airport were disappointed because Pan American World Airways officials drove the couple to the far side of the airport away from the main terminal so they would not encounter the crowd.

Harrison was dressed in a bright patterned jacket with blue bell-bottom trousers. He wore mauve moccasins and dark glasses. His wife was clad in a beaded vest over a multicolored minidress and red roman sandals. Her blonde hair was topped with a silver tiara.

New Probate Post Filled By Clerk

E L. Nininger, probate clerk with the county clerk's office for the past three and one-half years, has been appointed to the newly created post of Marin Superior Court Commissioner of Probate Matters.

Presiding Judge Joseph G. Wilson said yesterday establishment of the job by Marin's four superior court judges is an interim measure pending final passage of a state legislative measure establishing a post of commissioner with broader authority than the current appointment provides.

Nininger, to receive an annual $7,200 salary, is taking a cut of about $975 but would receive a raise to about $12,000 a year when the legislative measure is passed.

Judge Wilson said the present post was created because of need for such an office pending that measure, and that Nininger will be responsible to superior courts for matters in uncontested probate proceedings. He also will act as referee in probate activities referred to him by any of the four judges.

Judge Wilson said hiring of probate clerk to fill Nininger's old post is not expected "at this time."

Added City Hall Office Proposed For Mill Valley

Expansion of city hall into a vacant building at 21 Corte Madera Avenue will be proposed Monday to the city council by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

Present lease holder of the building, Edward M. Mills, has offered the space to the city for $175 a month, Balmer said. Mills is publisher of the Mill Valley Record, which formerly occupied the building.

His lease from the owner of the building, Mrs. Edna Foster of Mill Valley, has almost 13 months to run.

City hall staff several months ago considered converting the old library into an annex, but the building was found unsafe.

Pacifist, Attorney To Tell Democrats About Dissent

Terrance Hallinan of San Francisco and Robert Pickus of Berkeley will discuss "The Tactics of Dissent" at a meeting of the Sausalito Democratic Club on Tuesday, Aug. 15.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Pickus, a pacifist leader, is western area director of the World Without War Council, Berkeley. He is peace consultant for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Hallinan, an attorney, is an outspoken critic of the Administration policy in Vietnam.

Both oppose the U.S. military effort in Vietnam. They will present differing views on how to register effective protest and bring the war to an end.

AFROTC Cadets Begin Training

More than 180 Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets from more than 50 colleges and universities in the western states started a four-weeks training course Monday at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The officer trainees will get orientation flights in jet trainers and training in marksmanship, survival, first aid and other subjects.

Park, Recreation Groups To Become One State Unit

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state park commission and state recreation commission, both with seven members, will be merged into one nine-member park and recreation commission, under a bill which has passed both houses of the legislature and awaits the governor's signature.

The bill, by Senator Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai, had been introduced at the request of the department and Gov. Ronald Reagan so there was little doubt but what it would be signed into law.

The new law will require that the nine new members be appointed from the existing membership of the two commissions. It also, of course, will give Reagan the chance to eliminate a number of holdover commissioners who were appointed by former Governor Edmund G. Brown.

The bill also abolishes the division of beaches and parks and the division of recreation. It provides for appointment of a deputy director of parks and recreation by the governor.

"This bill will allow the director of parks and recreation to reorganize the department on a functional basis and will result in a more efficient and productive operation," Lagomarsino said. "Many of the present overlapping areas of responsibility and authority can be eliminated.

"Combining the parks and recreation commissions into one broad-based group will provide for coordinated parks and recreation planning," he said. "It also will save much time and effort of staff persons in attending commission meetings."

Lagamarsino announced also another bill of his, SB 1526, has been passed by both houses. This would authorize the department of parks and recreation to agree to hold harmless any person who has made a lease or granted a permit to the department for use of his property. The bill would permit purchase of insurance to protect the department against loss arising out of such lease or permit.

No Complaint Is Filed After Raid

No complaint will be filed against nine men arrested in a raid against alleged marijuana use by sheriff's officers Sunday in Lagunitas, pending further investigation, Deputy District Atty. J. Ralph Thomas said in Marin Municipal Court Monday.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered eight released from county jail. Bail of the ninth, Michael Todd Francis, 20, of Fairfield, was ordered returned to him.

Officers said raid of the summer home came after a deputy smelled burning marijuana there.

Just A Case Of Temptation

Shining up the city cars proved to be too much of a temptation to a car washer and he took a city car joyriding, Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia reported yesterday.

Lon Martin Wright, 18, of 1506 Vallejo Avenue, Apt. 7, took a city car four times between July 4 and 20, the chief said. Each time was for two to three hours, he said. Wright was an employee of Harry's Building Maintenance of 52 Boulevard Terrace, Novato, which has the contract to wash the city's cars.

Wright agreed to pay $124.68 for mileage on the cars, for minor damage done to the car on one ride and for the police time in investigating the case, the chief said. Wright was removed from his position last Friday, according to the chief.

Jury Trial Set In Burglary Case

Jury trial for Henry Earl Crutchfield, 18, charged with burglary, has been scheduled in Marin Superior Court for the week of Oct. 30.

Crutchfield, of 135 Drake Avenue, and a co-defendant, Moreland Smith, 20, of 307 Drake Avenue, both of Marin City, allegedly burgled the home of Andrew S. Cowie, 1135 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, June 16.

Both have pleaded innocent.

Money Drop Turns Out Stolen Funds

Hans Veith Von Valentini, of 2235 Centro East Street, Tiburon, told Sheriff's Deputy Robert W. Barner at 6:30 p.m. he saw a young man drop a bag in some weeds across the street, then run away.

Von Valentini retrived the bag, marked "First National Bank of San Rafael" and containing several rolls of coins and some bills, totaling $75, which he turned over to Barner.

Meanwhile, the club's manager, Mrs. Janet Blethen, learned a boy from the club had stolen the money from the bar and talked to his parents, according to Barner.

The boy went back to get the "hidden" bag of money, which by then had been taken to the sheriff's sub-station in Tiburon. The boy's parents agreed to write a check to the club for the missing money, Barner reported.

When the deputy reached Mrs. Blethen at 9 p.m. to report the "found money," she told him the "matter has been taken care of." Barner said she refused to disclose the boy's name.

Youths Entering Guide Dog Trial

The thirteenth annual field day for guide dogs trained by 4-H Club members will be at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the grounds of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. in San Rafael, the training school announced.

More than 100 4-H boys and girls from 36 California counties will compete in trials to test the guide dog's training. The Hamilton Trophy will be presented to the best behaved and best handled team.

Guide Dogs for the Blind assigns puppies to the youngsters for one year of simple obedience training and general discipline.

Point Reyes Highway Approach Work Begun

Construction is under way on the first four-mile stretch of a new entrance road for Point Reyes National Seashore the U. S. National Park Service has announced.

The road section from Olema Valley to the crest of Inverness Ridge will eventually connect with Limantour and Drakes beaches when the Seashore road system is completed, the park service reported. Darkenwald Construction Company of Sacramento is the contractor.

Money Missing

Charles Roy Martin, 367 East Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies at 1:15 a.m. yesterday that his money clip containing $70 was lost or stolen while he was in 39 Main Street Bar for two hours.

'BALANCED TRANSPORTATION'

Will Buses Solve Commute Crisis?

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON
(Last of three articles)

Until the Golden Gate Bridge was completed in 1937, the only way to get a car across the Gate was by ferry. The auto ferries did a thriving business, but most commuters rode Northwestern Pacific interurban trains which connected to ferries for the over-water trip to San Francisco.

NEW ERA

When the Golden Gte Bridge opened in the summer of '37, a new era dawned. It was now possible to drive your own car to any place in San Francisco quicker than you could get there by combination of train, ferry, and San Francisco street car.

The auto ferries vanished immediately. And within less than four years, the interurban trains and passenger ferries gave up the ghost. The NWP ran its last commute train out of San Rafael the night of Feb. 28, 1941. From then on, it was drive your car or take the Greyhound bus.

During their peak years before the bridge opened, according to the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings report, the Marin-San Francisco ferries carried about 120,000 automobiles and 750,000 people per month. Twenty-nine years later, the Golden Gate Bridge carried 2,300,000 vehicles and 3,700,000 people per month.

In the years between, however, the initial time advantage for bridge communing had pretty much evaporated. The ferries took from 25 to 45 minutes for the crossing, depending on the route and the weather. In 1960, according to the same report, the time by auto from Mill Valley to the San Francisco financial district averaged 45 minutes during commute hours. And on the Greyhound bus, it averaged one hour five minutes.

TRAIN NEEDS

By the mid-1950s, it was becoming recognized taat the trains which the bridge killed were needed again — but without the former delay for ferry crossing. Marin joined the Bay Area Rapid Transit District in June, 1957, confident that a rail line crossing the Golden Gate Bridge on a second deck would solve the growing commute traffic problem.

Much of the old Northwestern Pacific commute line right-of-way was still available then. BARTD planned to utilize it for rapid transit tracks, and to run them right on over the bridge on a deck below the present deck. An engineer hired by BARTD said this was perfectly feasible.

But Golden Gate Bridge District directors hired their own engineers — and the ones they hired said no second deck to carry trains could be added to the bridge, although one to carry autos would be just fine.

(An intriguing question arises here, that perhaps should be answered before Marin commits all its resources in an unbalanced transportation system: What would an engineer say if hired by the State of California? Or by the federal government? Both BARTD and the bridge district had taken their positions before hiring the engineers who gave the kind of reports they wanted.)

BUS CRISIS

Meanwhile, Greyhound Lines officials in repeated public statements declared they wanted to get out of the Marin commute bus business and would turn it over to any taker.

However, after Marin voters created their own transit district to tackle the problem, two consultants hired by the district (the first a longtime Greyhound employee) suggested the county provide Greyhound a $146,000-per-year subsidy to upgrade its service, buy its buses and operate them, or buy its own fleet of buses.

Well before this Thomas D. Hardcastle, a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, had proposed that the district operate the buses. Hardcastle voiced this proposal at a meeting of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs on March 21, 1963. He kept working at it, and this year got a commitment "in principle" for use of bridge district funds to help Marin Transit District take over or subsidize the Greyhound commute buses.

The extent of the bridge district's commitment has not as yet been spelled out, nor has the bridge district board indicated what control over use of the money or operation of the buses it would want as conditions of financial participation.

Plans to run trains directly into San Francisco have been shelved because the bridge district says "not on our bridge!"

THE OUTLOOK

Plans for a stop-gap effort through improving bus service hinge on (1) provision of reserve bus lanes on the bridge's second deck — which will not carry trains, (2) very expensive highway work to provide approaches to that deck, and (3) financial assistance by the bridge district in underwriting the deficit everyone foresees for the buses.

And the result would not be a "balance transportation system."

To make it one, the transit district on Sept. 6 will hire a manager. It is offering a salary range of $18,000 to $21,000 a year.

Valley Citizens Plan Against Hippie Haven

By JIM BREWER

The more than 30 San Geronimo Valley residents comprising the new "temporary area board" of the Economic Opportunity Council, last night made it clear, that while they will attempt to search out and eliminate poverty in the valley, they will not allow their area to become a haven for hippies.

The meeting at the Presbyterian Church, held with representatives of the EOC following last week's stormy session, was calm and orderly. The board members elected officers and attempting to lay a few ground rules for a survey to search out poverty in the valley.

"We will determine the incidences of poverty," board member Mike Healy said, "and if it's high enough, the federal government will okay the funds to fight it through the EOC."

CHAIRMAN NAMED

The board elected Mrs. Edwin F. Gardner of PO Box 1, Woodacre, as chairman. Mrs. Gardner, a valley resident for over 40 years, stated that she intends to "fight creeping bureaucracy before it kills the goose that laid the golden egg," adding, "We'll fight poverty here, but only for legitimate residents."

Throughout the evening, efforts were made to imit board membership to longtime residents. As each member of the board identified himself, he also stated how long he had lived in the valley.

Booing and jeering resulted for anyone who was a hippie newcomer, but a motion to require even six months residence went unseconded.

TARGET AREA

The controversy started two weeks ago when more than 50 valley residents heard arguments by representatives of the EOC to establish a "target area" in the valley to provide medical service, a cooperative nursery and jobs for poverty-ridden families.

Last week, more than 250 quarrelled with each other and EOC representatives before deciding to form this committee to search for families in need of aid.

The board adjourned until next Monday at 8 p.m. when they will meet with someone from the EOC district office in San Rafael to iron out any remaining questions and to organize the machinery to seek out poverty among "deserving residents."

In Poor Condition

A Hawk Finds A Home And Heeds A Whistle

She shares the place with a French poodle, Alexander, a turtle with no name, and an aquarium full of tropical fish. The Allen Millers live there, too, with their four children, Jan, 14, Heidi, 13, Wendy, 11, and Mike, 10.

The children and Tuffa have an agreement — she comes for food when the children blow on a shrill whistle. The two-year old hawk lives in an oak tree in the Miller garden and is another, if highly unusual, family pet.

Mrs. Allen Miller said the children rescued Tuffa as a chick when her home in Nevada was threatened. The vacationing children found her in an abandoned well shaft where renovation was to begin. Tuffa has reddish brown feathers with white mottling.

Permits Down

Condition Fair

Frank Franulic, 22, of 265 Circle Drive, Tiburon, remained in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital where he was admitted with multiple burns, suffered when a can of methanol exploded as he lighted a flaming dessert at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant where he is a waiter.

Opening lead — ♡ K

HOW TO PLAY?

The first step is easy, since you surely win in dummy with the ace of hearts. What next?

Most players would enter the South hand with a diamond to lead a club. No matter which club South plays from dummy East will win and return a heart.

This is very unlucky. South would make the slam if he could develop a club trick or if the diamonds broke normally.

ANOTHER LOOK

While you're weeping over South's bad luck, take another look for his best line of play. Declarer should lead dummy's jack of hearts at the second trick, discarding his singleton club.

South then draws trumps and scores 1,430 points for making a vulnerable slam instead of giving up 100 points for going down one trick.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ Q 5
♥ A J 9 3
♣ K J 10 7 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and two points for the doubletons, enough for a borderline or optional opening bid.

In this case you decide against the bid because you best suit is a minor and your doubleton queen of spades is not quite worth two points as a queen and another point as a doubleton.

In The Dark

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI)— Even in 1967 Africa retains some "dark continent" aspects Two Kikuyu tribesmen emerged from the jungle this spring to learn for the first time that the Mau Mau rebellion which ended 10 years ago was over. They were even more astonished to learn that Jomo Kenyatta, one-time Mau Mau leader, now was president of an independent Kenya and had been for four years.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 2, the 214th day of 1967 with 151 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Saturn and Mercury. The evening stars are Mars and Venus.

Born on this day in 1754 was Pierre L'Enfant, the Frenchman who designed Washington, D.C.

On this day in history:

In 1914, Russia invaded Germany as German troops moved into France, Belgium and Luxembourg.

In 1923, President Warren Harding died in a San Francisco hotel while returning home from a visit to Alaska.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler proclaimed himself Germany's absolute dictator when President Paul Von Hindenburg died.

A thought for the day — British poet John Clare once said: "If life had a second edition, how I would correct the proofs."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters, Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Yesterday's Answer

Market Closes Higher In Very Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed substantially higher today in very heavy trading.

Yesterday's breakout into peak territory for 1967 by the Dow Jones industrials attracted many new buyers who had been waiting for such a "bull market signal," analysts said.

Volume for the first four hours was 10.33 million shares compared with 8.9 million yesterday.

New buying was attracted by the action yesterday which saw a new high posted for the year in the Dow Jones industrial average and a record high in the railroad average.

General strength in blue chips gave the Dow industrials a gain of about 10 points early in the day and this was held in late dealings.

Up around 2 points were Chrysler, Alcoa, International Johns-Manville and Pfizer.

Share-For-Share Exchange Offered

CHICAGO — American Reserve Corp. announced today that all requirements of its share-for-share exchange offer to stockholders of Reserve Insurance Co., Chicago, have been met, and the exchange has been declared effective.

Under terms of the prospectus, the exchange offer was to expire at 3 p.m., PDT today but has been extended by American until 3 p.m. PDT Aug. 31 to allow additional Reserve Insurance Co. shareholders to participate.

Ownership Of Edgewater Inns Changes

A new corporation, Corte Madera Investments, Inc., has taken over the ownership of Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera, formerly owned by Harry James Stockman and his wife Betty-Bill of Santa Rosa.

Corte Madera Investments and a similar corporation, Oakland Investments, Inc., both composed of a group of national investors, were recently organized by J. M. K. Associates, New York financial consultant and investment counselor firm, to operate the Corte Madera inn and the larger Edgewater Inn of Oakland, also previously owned by the Stockmans.

The corporations were formed in order to settle creditors' claims against the Stockmans, who had filed bankruptcy proceedings. They will directly control all finances and expenditures of funds. Stockman is retained under an employment contract, as general manager in a hotel operating capacity.

Under the new ownership, arrangements are being made for an elaborate expansion of the Edgewater in Oakland involving a $3 million tower and wing addition. No plans have been announced for any change in the Corte Madera operations.

Something new is added to the undergarment lines—"semi-control" foundations which are light and cool but still help to smooth feminine silhouettes. They're so light that to the wearer the nylon and spandex combinations feel like lingerie, but they're enough pantie girdle to provide the control needed.

NEW PLANS FOR OAKLAND EDGEWATER — Under new ownership of the Edgewater Inns in Oakland and Corte Madera, the Oakland property should look like this when a $3 million tower and wing addition is completed in late 1968.

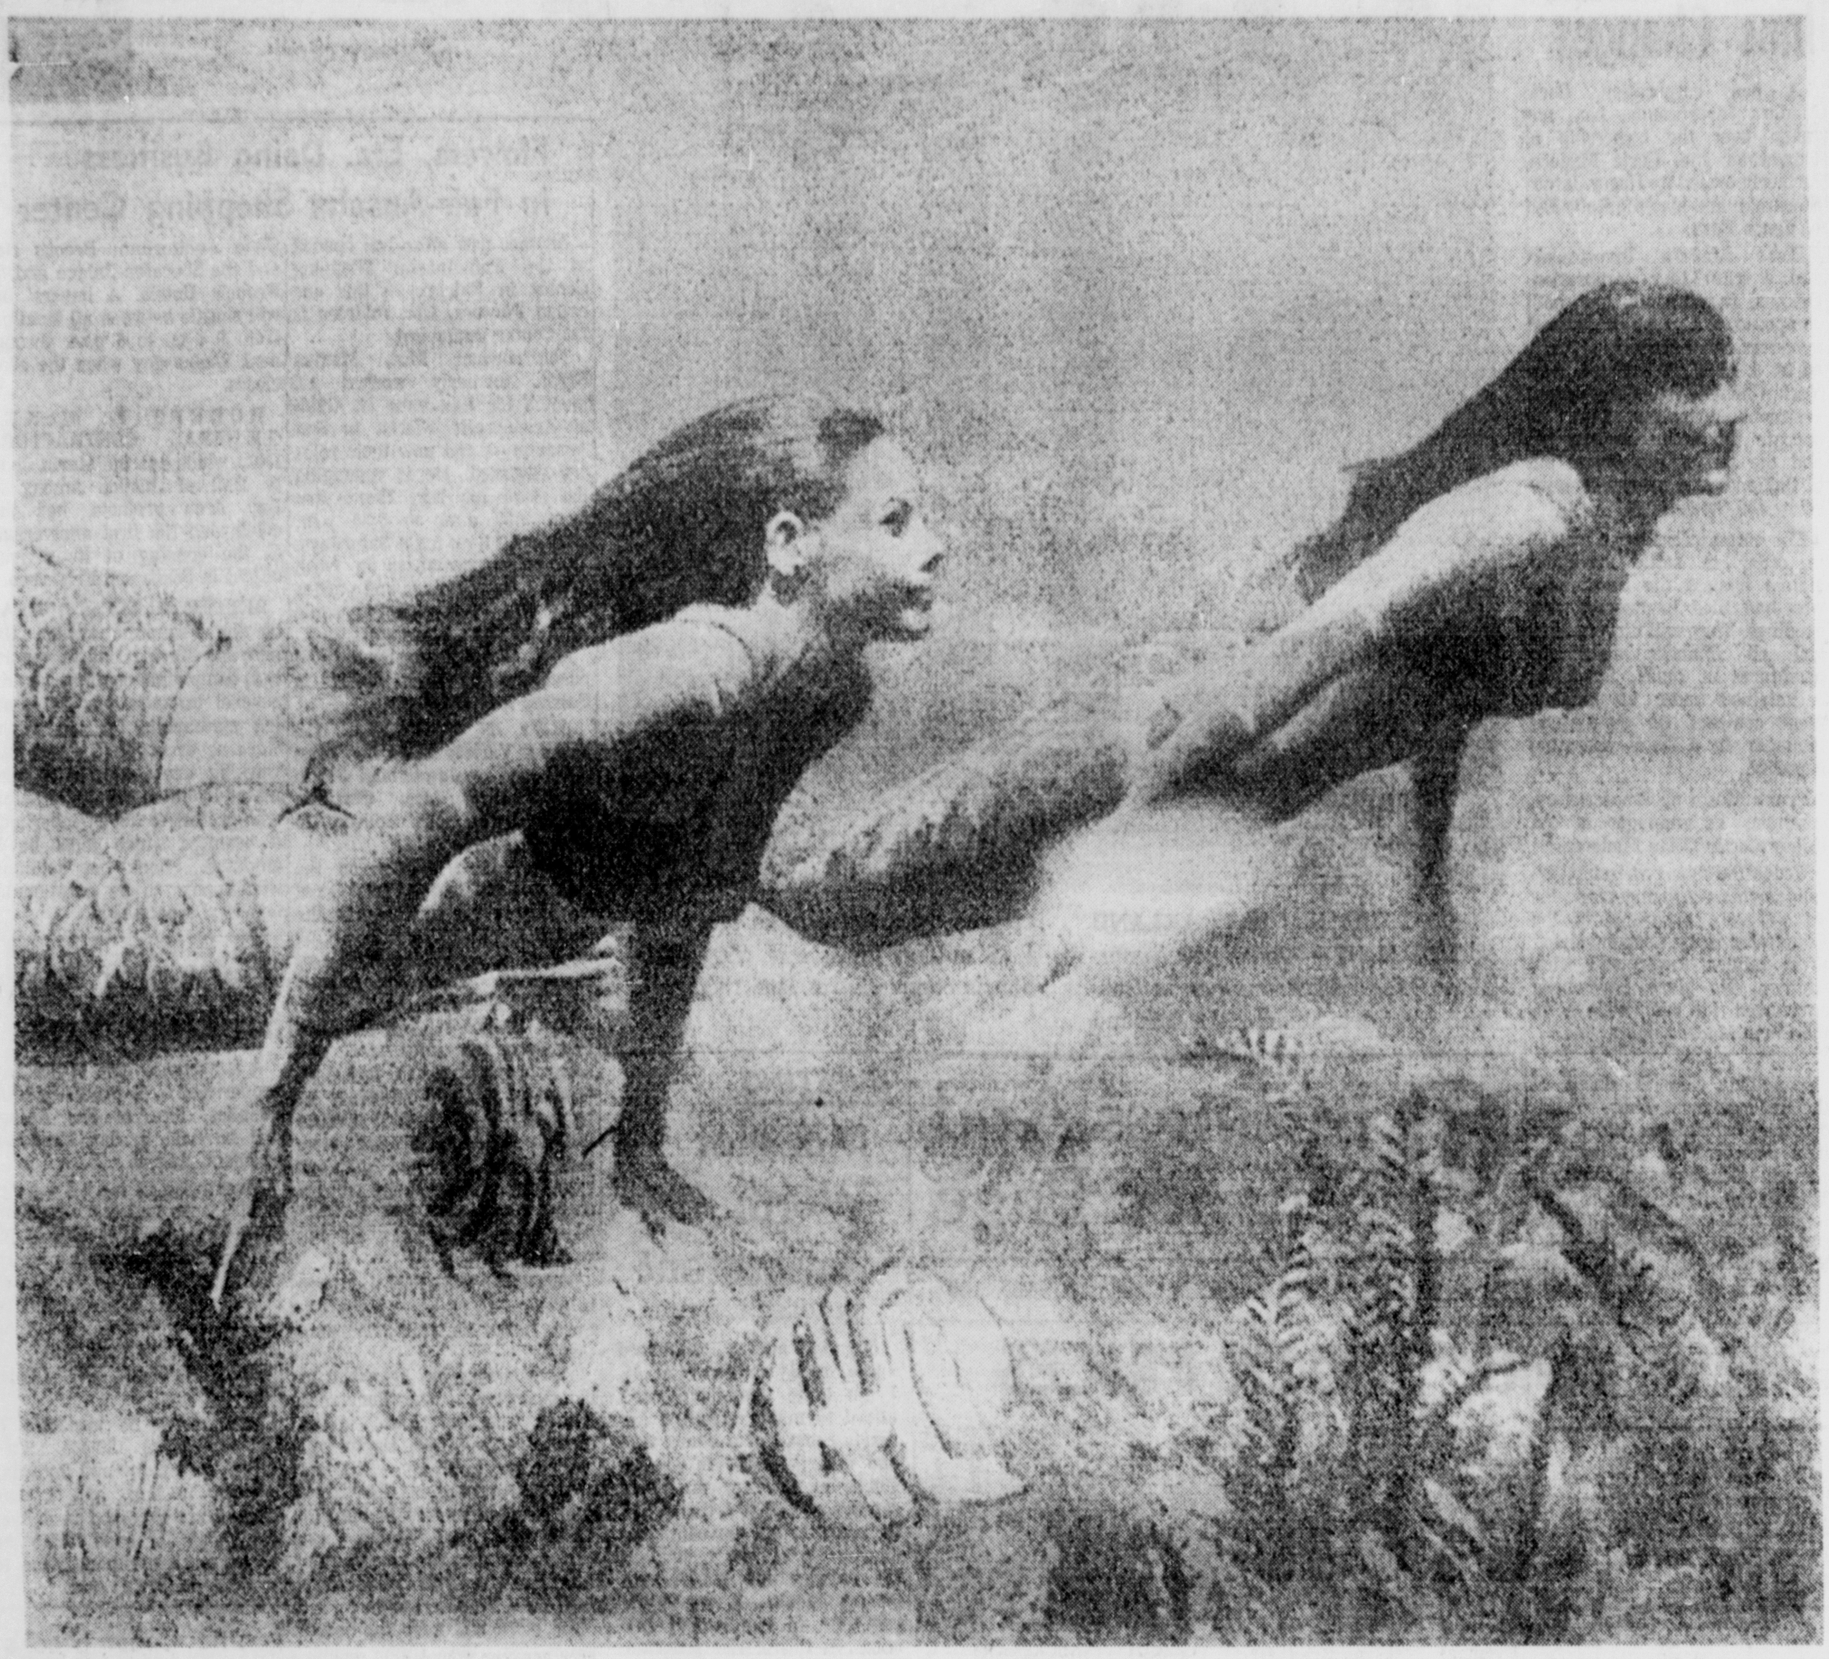
'Mermaids' Cavort In The Fantasy Of Disneyland



STARTLING — Tourists taking a trip in Disneyland's submarine Seawolf often are startled to see apparently real mermaids swimming alongside the undersea boat. But Shannon Johnson and her companions are really perfectly normal dry-land type sirens, togged out in mermaid costume.

BACK TO LAND — Dripping wet, Shannon emerged at poolside, to go to the special mermaid dressing room where she'll wriggle out of the tight-fitting rubber mermaid tail. The girls must learn special swimming techniques to use the costume properly. (UPI Telephotos)

No. 1418 Aug. 2, 1967

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE SALE
No. 82101

On Wednesday, the 9th day of August, 1967, at the hour of 2:30 o'clock P.M., of said day, at the Fourth Street entrance to the Court House, in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, Transamerica Title Insurance Company, a California corporation, as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit:

PARCEL ONE:
BEGINNING at a point in Richardson's Bay, distant 54.82 chains South and 43.23 chains East of a granite monument set at the Northwest corner of Section 34 in Township 1 North Range 6 West, Mount Diablo Meridian; thence according to the true meridian across Tide Lands as follows: South 52½° West 20 chains to the Northerly line of Sausalito Canal; thence at a right angle along the Northerly line of said Canal North 37½° West 10 chains; thence at a right angle North 52½° East 20 chains; thence at a right angle South 37½° East 10 chains to the point of beginning.

Being a tract of Tide Lands in Richardson's Bay described as Lot Number 307, containing an area of 20 acres according to the map of the Survey authorized in Section One of said Supplementary and Amendatory Act which map is entitled, "Map No. 1 of Salt Marsh and Tide Lands situated in Marin County," and is now on file in the office of the said Commissioners at San Francisco, certified copies thereof having been filed with the Surveyor General of the State, and with the County Recorder of the City and County of San Francisco.

EXCEPTING ALSO THEREFROM that portion condemned by the State of California and more particularly described in Final Order of Condemnation, recorded August 2, 1957 in Book 1132 of Official Records at page 118.

EXCEPTING ALSO THEREFROM that portion conveyed to the State of California, by Deed recorded October 19, 1953 in Book 831 of Official Records at page 588.

EXCEPTING ALSO THEREFROM that portion thereof as described in the Deed of Trust executed by George Leo Zaro, as Trustor, to Bank of San Rafael, as beneficiary, recorded November 21, 1958 in Book 1236 of Official Records, at page 23, Marin County Records, which lies Easterly of the Easterly line of California State Highway (U. S. 101) as said Easterly line was established by the final order of condemnation (State of California vs. Ivan A. Kitzberger, et al), recorded August 2, 1957 in Book 1132 of Official Records at page 118, Marin County Records.

PARCEL TWO:
BEGINNING at a point which is distant 2570.70 feet South and 2049.30 feet East of a granite monument set to mark the Northwest corner of Section 34 in Township 1 North Range 6 W.M.D.B. & M., and thence running according to the true meridian, South 37° 30' East 660 feet thence South 52° 30' West 1320.0 feet to the Northeasterly line of the Sausalito Canal; thence along said line North 37° 30' West 1320 feet; thence leaving said line North 52° 30' East 318.12 feet to the shore of Richardson's Bay at ordinary High Tide; thence along said shore line South 30° 45' East 161.04 feet; South 43° 15' East 211.20 feet; North 78° 00' East 290.40 feet, North 43° 00' East 92.40 feet, North 26° 30' East 151.80 feet, North 9° 15' East 118.8 feet, North 46° 15' East 283.80 feet, North 62° 15' East 99 feet and North 32° 00' East 44.22 feet; thence leaving said shore line South 37° 30' East 359.04 feet to the true point of beginning.

Being shown as Lots 303 (containing 11.09 acres) and 306 (containing 20 acres) in Richardson's Bay on that certain map entitled, "Map No. 1 of Salt Marsh and Tide Lands, situated in Marin County, State of California," etc., on file in the office of the Surveyor General of the State of California.

EXCEPTING THEREFROM the triangular shaped parcel in the most easterly corner of said lands, conveyed to the State of California, by Deed from Edith Blanding Coleman, et al, recorded December 18, 1930 in Book 205 of Official Records at page 274, Marin County Records. Containing a net acreage after said exception of 31.01 acres, more or less.

EXCEPTING ALSO THEREFROM that portion condemned by the State of California and more particularly described in Final Order of Condemnation recorded August 2, 1957 in Book 1132 of Official Records at page 118.

ALSO EXCEPTING THEREFROM the real property as described in Parcels A-1, A-2, A-3, A-4 and A-4 (a) in the Deed from George Leo Zaro to Alcan-Marin Ltd., a limited partnership, recorded December 31, 1963 in Book 1765 of Official Records at page 216, Marin County Records.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for furnishing and installing audio systems for the Fine Arts Building located at the College of Marin, Kentfield, Marin County, California.
2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with the Director of Planning and Research, Room 25, Harlan Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, California, where same may be examined and copies obtained.
3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of the Director of Planning and Research, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten percent of the amount bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 17th day of August 1967 at 2:00 p.m. and will be opened in public at or about 2:00 p.m. of that day in Room 25, Harlan Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.
4. The above-mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be retained as liquidated damages if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after such award and after being requested to do so by the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District.
5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of the Marin Junior College District.
6. The general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, has been ascertained by the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District to be as follows:

CLASS OF WORK	WAGE PER. HR.
Electrician	$6.51
Carpenters	5.205
Laborers—Group I	4.425
—Group II	4.275
—Group III	4.175
Painters—Brush	5.22
—Spray	5.47

7. All overtime labor on weekdays, Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays to be paid for in accordance with the union wage scale at that time.
8. All other trades not hereinabove mentioned to receive wage prescribed for that particular craft or type of workman.
9. In addition to the hourly and/or per diem wages for the crafts, classifications or types of workmen listed above, contractors may be required to make employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes as required by the executed collective bargaining agreements for the particular craft, classification or type of work involved.
10. The working day shall be eight (8) hours unless otherwise specified above. The per diem rate shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours in the working day.
11. All bidders must be contractors properly licensed to perform said work.
12. The Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and/or waive any irregularity in any bid received. Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Supervisors Refuse Funds For Slide Study

Marin supervisors, by a 4-1 vote, refused yesterday to supply funds for a slide threat study at the Community Mental Health Center site in Greenbrae.

All but Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed that the investigation was unnecessary in view of an opinion by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that the developer of an apartment house above the center could be held responsible in the event of a slide.

The decision tossed the slide issue back to the Marin Hospital District board, which last week asked county participation in a soils probe of Marin General Hospital property on the lower half of a hill east of the center. District trustees said the lower slope was seeping water.

Marin County has joined the hospital board and the federal government in financing construction of the center, although Marin General Hospital, run by the district board, ultimately will own the building.

Although Schultz said his soils engineer reported the hill was safe, according to Frost, the director reaffirmed his recommendation to study the lower slope because of "unknown conditions" there.

Opposed, Supervisors John F. McInnis said another soils engineer "would only disagree with the first engineer's opinion — because that's the safe way out."

He urged the district to rely on the opinion of Schultz' engineer that construction is safe, and "put him (Schultz) on notice that he's liable for any slide."

Chairman Thomas T. Storer felt that fill activity was causing the seepage on hospital property, and suggested the district enjoin further work through the courts.

Kettenhofen, however, said it was unknown whether Schultz' work had triggered the seepage, and asked that the county share in a probe of the lower hill.

It now will be up to the district and their attorney whether to proceed on a study, estimated to cost a maximum of $5,000.

Improvement District Vote Set For West Marin Water

An election to see whether or not to form an improvement district within the Inverness-Point Reyes Station area to make a study of water needs, was set last night for Nov. 7 by the North Marin County Water District board.

The board received a petition against the formation of the district bearing 190 signatures. All that was required was 85 valid signatures, or 10 per cent of the 850 registered voters in the area.

"We did not check all of the names, but we found the required 85 valid ones," said Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager.

The area was annexed to the North Marin Water District at the request of citizens of the area. The district proposed the formation of an improvement district to pay for an engineering study of the water needs and how to supply them. The board approved the formation of the district at its July 11 meeting and the residents had 30 days to file a protest petition.

"It will take a simple majority to pass it or defeat it," said Gilbert.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

ANNEXATION — Approved the annexation of 48 acres in Sonoma County just across the Marin County line and east of Highway 101 where present plans call for the construction of a drive-in theater.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with the Coca Cola Bottling Co. for that company to pay $7,210 for water main extensions and fire hydrants at its new bottling plant site in the Hamilton Industrial Park in the southeast corner of the intersection of Highways 101 and 37.

BILLS — Paid $21,810 in monthly bills.

Council Backs Argument For Library Voting

Sausalito City Council last night endorsed an argument for the Sept. 19 referendum measure to build a waterfront library through a lease-purchase plan.

The argument, prepared by Michael Harris, president of the library board, will be mailed with sample ballots to city voters.

No arguments against the proposal have been submitted to city hall. Deadline to submit arguments is 5 p.m. Friday.

The library would be financed by a $126,124 federal grant, $85,269 already accumulated for it by the library board, and $190,200 through a 25-year lease-purchase agreement.

"Payment will be financed entirely through the 5-cent library building tax Sausalito taxpayers have been paying for several years," wrote Harris. "The library will be a prudent and needed investment for Sausalito. The longer we wait, the more it will cost."

The election will decide whether the council may build the library through lease-purchase. A $250,000 library bond measure was defeated last March.

Nothing Taken By Burglars

Lewis A. Denton, Meadow Way, San Geronimo, told deputies Friday someone removed an open window screen of his home, entering to take a wrist watch and $1.50 cash.

Ban Is Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has lifted its travel ban for Algeria, Libya and The Sudan. The ban was imposed during the recent Middle East war but has been lifted in most countries of the area except Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Syria and Yemen.

Morals Case Is Dismissed

Carl Ejane Johnson, 20, of 947 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was released from county jail yesterday after Deputy Dist. Atty. Ralph Thomas said in Marin Municipal Court that no complaint will be filed against him pending further investigation of alleged rape.

Sheriff's officers arrested Johnson early yesterday when an 18-year-old Vallejo girl said he raped her in a car parked earlier near Strawberry Point.

They had been in San Francisco, she said, and he forced her into the vehicle, drove to Strawberry Point, and assaulted her. She was taken to Marin City relatives by deputies following examination at Marin General Hospital.

Adjournment Slated Friday

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The legislature plans to adjourn its record 1967 session at 5 p.m. Friday.

The lawmakers endorsed the plan yesterday.

But Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said the lengthy session probably will extend into the weekend and end about 5 p.m. Sunday.

The legislators will return to Sacramento Sept. 4 for a mandatory five-day session to consider vetoes by Gov Ronald Reagan made after the initial session adjourns.

Cycle Stolen

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Exercise And Fewer Calories Are Weight-Losing Combination

VAN DELLEN

Exercise may not be so good as a low caloric diet for losing weight, but it helps. Dr. W. E. Harris of Eugene, Ore., kept tabs on the waistlines of 265 white collar workers who jogged one or more miles a day, three times a week. Within 12 weeks belts were tightened an average of 1½ inches and blood pressure was also reduced. The 179 overweight men in the group each shed an average of 7.8 pounds.

Dr. Harris, a heart specialist, found that a combination of walking and running was ideal exercise. Exertion expenditure could be regulated by the total distance covered, the percentage of walking, and the pace of running.

ALL PARTICIPANTS were examined thoroughly to determine their personal capacities. Men up to the age of 65 could be trained to jog at a fairly good pace, at least 2½ miles per day, three or four times a week. Jogging was a convenient, inexpensive and graded exercise.

To lose weight, the body must burn more calories than it takes in. The energy used to run the body comes from what we eat. Only a few calories are used as energy by the chest muscles in breathing and by the heart when it contracts.

During sleep, 1.2 calories are used per minute, in contrast to 19.4 calories per minute for running. The calories in a T-bone steak will be expended in 201 minutes of sleeping and in 12 minutes of running.

IN CONTRAST, a 150-pound man must walk for an hour or cycle for 43 minutes to use up the calories consumed in one hamburger (350 calories). To dissipate 255 calories in an ice cream soda the person must walk for 49 minutes or run for 13.

Avoiding these foods may be easier than working them off. Best results are obtained by cutting down on calories and increasing the amount of exercise. If the intake is greater than the output, many gain weight but do not necessarily become obese.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

KIDNEY STONE

REPLY

If a kidney stone should tear the lining of the renal tract, bleeding may occur. When blood is detected in the urine, the physician suspects kidney stone and suggests X-ray. But other lesions produce similar findings and in this respect, urinalysis is not a specific test for stones.

SELF-DIAGNOSIS

Z. F. writes: Does soreness under the ribs on both sides mean ulcer and gall bladder trouble?

REPLY

There is an old saying that a person who treats himself has a fool for a doctor. The same applies to self-diagnosis. Pain under both ribs is not typical of either of the two diseases mentioned.

ACHING ELBOW

S. M. writes: Can arthritis occur in the elbow?

REPLY

McCarthy Aide Will Put Out Senate Brochure

Frank Reynolds, legislative aide to Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, has been commissioned to put out a 16-page information brochure on the state Senate.

Reynolds said the Legislature may wind up this week, but he will stay on in the Capitol working on the booklet, which will include colored photographs and text to explain how the Senate operates.

The borchures will be distributed to school groups and other visitors to the Capitol, and to those who make special requests.

Smokers Held Cheerful Lot

MUNICH, Germany (GF) — A study of 1,200 smokers and non-smokers by a Munich University psychologist contends that the smokers are more sociable, versatile and cheerful.

They are also more open-minded when it comes to sex, according to the psychologist Dr. Schievelbein.

But non-smokers, he found, were generally more orderly, contented and conscientious and tended to accomplish more in life.

Argument Leads To Blows At Lot

Richard A. James of 419 Drake Avenue, Marin City, reported Monday to Mill Valley police that an unidentified man hit him in the back of his neck in an argument in the Safeway parking lot.

James, who was unhurt, said the argument came after his assailant passed him illegally at East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto. After striking James, the other driver drove away, James said.

Dinner Honors Exchange Group

The six college students are in the United States for up to eight weeks under the annual program sponsored by Lions International. Their families pay their way to the host country, where students then live with club members' families.

Petition Asks Incorporation

MARTINEZ (UPI)—A petition signed by 2,700 Lafayette residents today requested Contra Costa County to change its status from an unincorporated community to an incorporated city.

Orinda, an adjoining community, also seeks to incorporate. If the board of supervisors decides to call a special election, Orinda would become the county's 14th city and Lafayette the 15th.

Lafayette would have a population of 28,000 and include 14 square miles, the boundaries roughly parallel to the Lafayette School District.

Jazz Festival Aids Church Fund

The second summer jazz festival Monday night at Saint Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City raised about $100 for the church's cultural development program, reported Rev. Donald H. Schilling, co-pastor.

More than 300 persons attended the festival, "Jazz and other Other Things," which featured "Meridian West," modern jazz group; Margot Jones and her dancers; the Larry Davis Quartet, and the Stanley Jackson Trio.

Mays Gives Giants Shot In The Arm

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays claims he doesn't feel up to snuff, and maybe he's right, but he's hitting again and the Giants seem to have snapped out of their tailspin.

The captain, who missed eight games because of the flu last month, ripped his 14th homer of the season and the 556th of his career last night in helping the Giants score a 3-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and climb a notch into fourth place.

The Giants still are eight long games away from the top with only a third of the season left, but a little of that deficit could be made up if Mays has found his hitting eye again.

Mays hit his 13th homer on June 28—five long weeks ago—and in the period he was on the shelf with the flu the Giants slipped almost out of the first division.

The eight days of forced absence made it 17 in all for the year that the Giants have had to play without their big gun.

Mays said he still feels a bit tired and washed out but in his last three games baseball's second greatest home run hitter of all time has stroked four singles, a homer, walked twice and sacrificed a runner along. Significantly, the Giants won two of those three games and lost the other by just one run.

Mays' entire big league career—tracing all the way back to 1951—has been marked by hot and cold streaks. Usually when he is hot the Giants win.

"I don't know why you want to make a big thing about my homer," Mays said in his best self-effacing manner. "Just say (Juan) Marichal won his 14th game and the Giants won 3-1."

Marichal pitched a six-hitter, struck out four and walked only one in winning his second straight and increasing his won-lost record to 14-9.

Without meaning to alibi Mays said his doctor told him what he really needed to get over the flu was a month's rest.

"Heck, I can't sit out a month," Willie said. "I still have a sniffle and playing in this cold (at Candlestick Park) doesn't help much."

After today's concluding game with the Pirates with Gaylord Perry (7-12) going against Dennis Ribant (6-4), the Giants head to the warmer East for games with the Mets 3, Phils (3), Cardinals (4) and Braves (3). The trip, one of the longest of the season, could make or break the Giants' pennant hopes.

The Pirates scored their lone run off Marichal in the third on a single by Matty Alou and a two-out triple by Roberto

OH, RATS! GIANTS BOSS IS DOWN IN THE DUMPS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Horace C. Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants, says their home ground in Candlestick Park is a ratty place.

He wrote a letter to James Lang, general manager of the San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission which controls the park, saying that a young man was bitten by a rat while seated in a rightfield lower box seat.

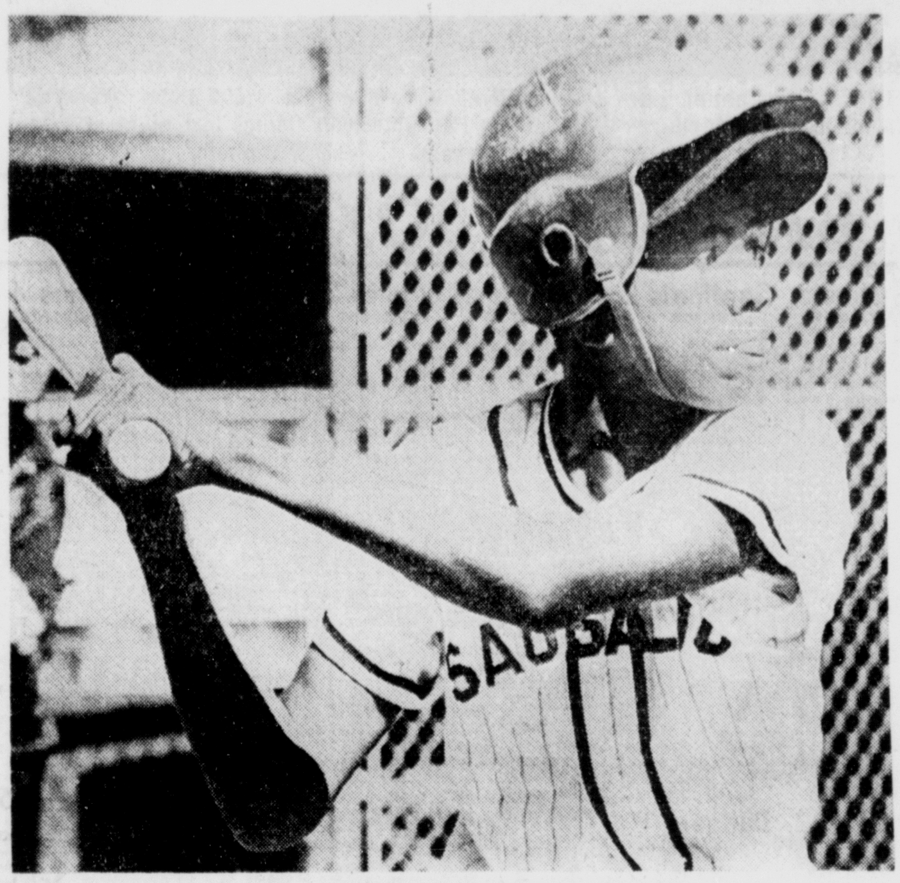
Novato Loses Opener In Southwest Tourney



HIS BUBBLE IS ABOUT TO BURST

El Segundo Nips Stars On A Steal

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

EL SEGUNDO — Within earshot of the magical country of Disneyland, Hollywood and the Sunset Strip, the Novato All-Stars ran out of magic last night.

The All-Stars, fighting to stay alive in the Southwest Regional Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament here, had their backs pushed to the wall by a delayed steal of home and their unusually silent bats last night as they lost to home-town favorite El Segundo, 2-1, in the opening round of the double-elimination tourney.

Tom Zechlin went the distance for the All-Stars, who had swept into the regionals on the strength of outstanding hurling and timely hitting.

Zechlin gave up just five hits and struck out seven, in addition to getting one of Novato's three hits. But his throwing error in the sixth inning helped set up the winning run.

WILD THROW

Zechlin threw wild to second with one out, leaving runners on second and first in the sixth. Russ Dillon, erstwhile ace hurler being saved for another day, cut off one run at the plate on a throw to the plate from left field but on the next pitch, El Segundo clicked on a delayed double steal and that was the ballgame.

If that run was slightly tainted, Novato's was not exactly clean. The All-Stars got it on four straight walks in the third inning. That was all, however, when the next batter struck out on three straight pitches.

El Segundo scored first in the top of the third on a single, a sacrifice bunt and a double.

EIGHT STRANDED

The All-Stars take a day off today to visit Disneyland. They'll return to action in a losers' bracket game against Utah tomorrow at 5:30 p.m.

In other games yesterday, Hawaii blanked Arizona, 3-0, and Arcadia, the Southern California entry, whipped Utah, 4-0.

The All-Stars will now have to win six straight games to grab the title and a trip to Fairbanks, Alaska for the Babe Ruth World Series.

PAN-AM SWIM SPREE

A Tough Act To Follow

WINNIPEG, Canada (UPI)—The United States track and field team in the Pan-American Games today faced up to a mighty tough task—matching the awesome record just completed by their friends on the U.S. swimming team.

Paced by triple record-smasher Claudia Kolb of Santa Clara, the U.S. swimming team wound up its Pan-Am performance yesterday by sweeping all five swimming events on the program. And that meant the Yanks won a total of 24 of the 29 swimming and diving gold medals in the games.

With this aquatic show as the base, the United States has rolled up 88 gold medals in the games and now is in a good position to top the 109 it captured in the 1963 Pan-Am contests at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

But if anybody can beat the record of the U.S. swimmers, it's the U.S. trackmen. In fact, they already have a head start toward exactly that. Including a clean sweep of all four events decided yesterday, they now have won 12 out of 13 events.

And coming up on today's program are five more final events in which U.S. athletes are favored — the men's 200-meter, 800-meter, and 5,000-meter runs and the women's 200-meter dash and long jump.

Yesterday went into the Pan-

JIM GILMARTIN

Coach, Official Going To Shrine Grid Game

SOUTHWARD, HO — At least two Marin Countians will trek to the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow night to watch Drake High's Jerry Sprout play in the North-South Shrine high school football game.

They are Jerry's coach at Drake, Carl J. Brown, and veteran Marin football official "Rusty" Ghilotti.

Brown will make a quick trip, flying to L.A. in the afternoon and returning immediately after the game. Ghilotti, named "Rusty" because of his long career with the Marin Municipal Water District (I guess), will make a more leisurely trip via train. "I just don't like airplanes," he said. Besides, as official timekeeper at prep games for more than 30 years, he has plenty of time.

Incidentally, on the North-South players' first visit the L.A. Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, each player was introduced to a patient. "I got a girl who didn't speak a word of English, only Spanish," said Sprout. "I've had no Spanish so I had somewhat of a problem."

WESTWARD, HO — Western Baseball Association expects a realignment next year, expanding to 10 teams by adding Las Vegas, Nev., Yakima, Wash., Boulder, Colo. and Hawaii and dropping Ukiah, Santa Rosa and Fallon, Nev.

The new setup should provide some fun-filled road trips for the San Rafael Braves. I mean to Boulder and Yakima!

Satch Brings Act To San Rafael

Incidentally, the Braves will provide some good family fun Friday night when Satchel Paige, the ageless and rubber-arm pitching star, brings his Indianapolis Clowns, the Harlem Globetrotters of Baseball, to San Rafael's Albert Field.

They'll play the Baltimore Stars in their barnstorming baseball act that drew 5,600 fans in Klamath Falls last night. They say the Clowns' lights-out act with luminous ball gloves, hands and feet is a show-stopper. Curtains up at 8 o'clock, adults $1.50, kids under 17 six bits. Proceeds to the WBA champion Braves.

BYE-BYE, BABIES — If San Rafael seemed strangely quiet Monday afternoon it was because the Parks and Recreation Department sent 480 kids by bus to Candlestick for the Giants-Pirates game.

BREEZE — Wimbledon champion Mrs. Billie Jean King scored an easy victory in the second round of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships at South Orange, N.J. yesterday. Story on page 42. (UPI Telephoto)

North Marin Ponies Lose Heartbreaker

North Marin All-Stars will battle Ukiah in the losers' bracket of the Pony League sectional tournament at Citrus Heights near Sacramento at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

This was after the North Marin Ponies had almost scored a run in their half of the seventh when Jim Coddington stole home. But the umpire ruled interference on the part of the batter and the run was scratched.

The Northern Marinites scored in the fifth and sixth innings. Kevin Ward, who had two of Marin's three hits, scored both runs.

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

LOS ANGELES — Jerry Sprout of Drake High School, Marin County's first representative in the North-South Shrine football game since 1963, is a member of a North team nobody in the Southland may hear of until they show up tomorrow night at the Coliseum to battle the South.

That is because the South is getting all the headlines and is favored by three to four touchdowns. Especially notorious by this time is South halfback Mickey Cureton of Compton High, who holds more records than anyone in the Los Angeles area except Frank Sinatra.

In any case, Sprout and his teammates will probably be there when the band starts playing for the South and they might even make 'em change their tune. "I think we'll give them a pretty good game," said the personably All-Marin County Athletic League selection, who will attend Stanford this fall.

Jerry, 6-6 and 235 pounds, will start at defensive end, which involves a greater change from his defensive tackle habits than a casual observer would guess.

"I never did play defensive end before and I had a little trouble adjusting," he explained. "I've been working pretty hard on it. We have a pretty good scouting report on the other team so we know pretty much what to expect.

"I have quite a bit more responsibility at defensive end than at tackle. I have to cover the swing back and drop back on passes if the play goes the other way. Sometimes I'll go out with the split end.

"They have a pretty good ground game centered around Cureton's running ability. They like to run power plays around end and off tackle, and they pull their guards a lot."

BUSY ENDS

That means the defensive ends will be fighting off two blockers a lot of the time. Sprout said there were no teams that he recalled in the Marin Athletic League that used such an offense.

"Our offense is not real fancy," he reports, "just the normal two halfbacks and a split end. I think we'll pass quite a bit. We have a good quarterback in Dan Pastroni (Bellarmine H.S., San Jose). The best receiver is a guy from Stockton (Franklin H.S.) named Sam Dickinson. They also like to throw to Mel Gray (Santa Rosa H.S.) and Stan Brown of Salesian (Richmond)."

The North is coached by Marvin Bowles of Burbank High in Sacramento and Dan Albert of Monterey High in Monterey. They have drilled Sprout at tight end on offense as well as at defensive end, as a precaution against injuries.

The last Marin player to play in the Shrine game was Redwood High quarterback Jim Troppmann, a member of the 1963 North team that lost 13-6. Troppman's 36-yard pass set up the North's only touchdown. His father, Redwood coach Bob Troppmann, was one of the North coaches that year, the only Marin coach so honored in the game's 15-year history.

Leo's 'In' Friends Know Cubs Can Pull 'Miracle'

By SAM GOLDAPER
UPI Sports Writer

Can the Chicago Cubs write the most fantastic baseball story of all time and bounce back from a last place finish of a year ago to their first National League pennant in 22 years?

Leo has made no public outcries that his Cubs can win the pennant but privately he has been known to tell his 'friends', "we can do it."

If Leo's "friends" had any doubts that Durocher, at age 61, was living in the past, they lost some of them yesterday when the Cubs bounced back for a 3-2 victory over St. Louis and cut the Cards' league lead to 3½ games.

"We bounced back before and we'll bounce back again," said Durocher Monday. Of course, his reference was to the seven straight losses the Cubs suffered after the All-Star game. Just when everybody was saying the Chicago balloon had burst, "this is it," the Cubs suddenly were back again, tied with St. Louis a week ago Monday.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 2-0; New York cooled off Houston 5-1; Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 2-1 and San Francisco downed Pittsburgh 3-1.

Jenkins pitched his 13th complete game in 26 starts this year and posted his 14th victory against eight losses, limiting the Cards to six hits and ending a six-game St. Louis winning streak.

Jim Maloney pitched his first shutout of the season as he limited the Atlanta Braves to three hits. The Reds' righthander struck out eight and permitted only one batter to reach second. Chico Ruiz sparked the batting attack with three hits, two of them doubles.

Larry Jackson continued to hold his spell over the Dodgers, beating them for the third time this season. On all occasions his victim was Claude Osteen. Cookie Rojas collected a double and two singles in four trips to the plate and scored both Phillie runs.

All-Stars Plan Toe-To-Toe Donnybrook With Packers

CHICAGO (AP) Coach Johnny Sauer of the College All-Stars is convinced of two things —he has the best talent available and his team will slug it out toe-to-toe with the Green Bay Packers.

Sauer leads the All-Stars against the Packers Friday night in Soldier Field with hopes of wiping out the 38-0 licking administered by the Packers against his 1966 All-Star contingent.

"I don't make predictions," said Sauer yesterday "but I guarantee you this squad will hit with the Packers all night."

Speaking before the annual luncheon where the Stars make their only pre-game public appearance, Sauer said, "I don't know of a single rookie with any pro team presently who belongs on this squad. We have the best players available."

The All-Stars, who have a glittering array of talent, had their hopes bolstered last Thursday when they got their first taste of pro competition in a scrimmage against the Chicago Bears.

"The Packers had better be on their toes," said Owner-Coach George Halas of the Bears. "This is the best All-Star squad I've ever seen and these kids want to play. They know how to hit."

The man who is expected to do most of the hitting for the Stars is All-America Bubba Smith, the 290-pounder from Michigan State.

"I expected him to use his strength more than he did," said Bear Guard Jim Cadile, who went up against Bubba in the scrimmage.

"I thought he'd come straight ahead with power," said Cadile. "Instead, he was moving and throwing. He's learned some tricks already which is unusual for a rookie, especially a man his size."

Smith led the charge against the Bear offense and his teammates followed in what they hope will be a similar pattern against the Packers.

Linebacker Dick Butkus summed it up by saying, "either the Bears are going to be real bad this year or the All-Stars are going to be awfully good. I think they'll be good and maybe they can mess up the Packers and make our job easier."

Almost A Sweep For U.S.

Am books as almost an exclusive Yankee show. In addition to the five gold medals in swimming, and four in track, the United States also had the middleweight judo winner, Hayward Nishioka of Los Angeles, and the U.S. water polo team thrashed Cuba, 9-3, to put a lock on first place in that sport.

In fact, the only two things the Yanks didn't win were the men's individual epee fencing, taken by Arthur Telles of Brazil, and the light-heavyweight judo, won by Michael Johnson of Canada. San Francisco's Bill Paul earned a bronze medal for a tie fo third place.

THE BIG STAR

Miss Kolb, 17, was the big start and rightly so—her third victory in as many nights and her third record. This time it was a world record in the women's 400-meter individual medley with 5:09.68 to wipe out the 5:14.9 owned by Donna de Varona of the United States.

But Mark Spitz, the top male star of the U.S. team, who also hails from Santa Clara, couldn't let the occasion pass without picking up his fifth gold medal of the games—this one for a relay leg on the U.S. men's 400-meter medley team that won in 3:59.31, just a shade over the record. Teaming with him were Doug Russell, Ken Webb, and Ken Walsh.

The other U.S. swim winners were Mike Burton of Carmichael, Calif., who set a Pan-Am record of 16:44.40 as he ran away with the tough men's 1,500 freestyle; Win Young, winner of the men's platform diving title with 706.95 points; and the women's 400-meter freestyle relay of Wendy Fordyce, Linda Gustavson, Pam Carpinelli, and Pam Kruse, a winner in 4:04.57.

WOMEN'S RECORD

The U.S. track winners picked up only one games record—174 feet, 9 inches by Barbara Friedrich of Spring Lake Heights, N.J., in the women's javelin throw, but the other winners were equally impressive. They were Ron Whitney of Denver, Colo., in the men's 400-meter hurdles in 50.7 seconds, Charles Craig of Fresno, in the triple jump with 54 feet, 3½ inches; and Gary Carlsen of Rock Island, Ill., in the men's discus throw with 188 feet, 8 inches.

The U.S. men's basketball team rallied behind a 32-point performance by Darel Carrier of the Phillips Oilers for a 91-71 victory that kept them unbeaten and heavily favored.

Mrs. King Breezes In Eastern Tennis

COMBINED AP & UPI

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. — Mrs. Billie Jean King, seeking to maintain her position as top woman tennis player in the world, easily advanced in the Eastern Grass Courts tournament here yesterday by trouncing Mimi Kanarek of New York 6-0, 6-1.

Second-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco kept up with the Wimbledon champion from Long Beach by whipping Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 6-1, 6-3.

WEIGHTLIFTING

FOOTBALL

ANAHEIM — The New Orleans Saints come marching into the National Football League tonight when they play their first game ever against the Los Angeles Rams in Anaheim Stadium. In their first game ever, the newest addition to the NFL will take a strong backfield, featuring quarterback Gary Cuozzo and Fullback Jim Taylor, against the toughest defense in the league.

BOCA RATON, Fla. — The Miami Dolphins of the American Football League announced the signing of veteran end Preston Carpenter, released last week by the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL.

BASEBALL

PHILADELPHIA — The Phillies recalled lefthand pitcher Mike Everett from Bakersfield of the California League and returned infielder Terry Harmon to Portsmouth of the Carolina League. Everett will replace Rick Wise, now serving two weeks with the Army Reserves. Harmon had been used in place of Johnny Briggs, who also spent two weeks with the Reserves.

GOLF

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — Medalist Marsha Houghton of Modesto downed Jill Graham of Muncie, Ind., 5 and 4 to gain the quarterfinals of the Women's Western Junior tournament.

CHICAGO — Billy Casper will try to take his third straight Western Open tourney when 144 pros and amateurs tee off tomorrow at the Beverly Country Club.

BOATING

Questions And Answers On Mooring Problems

By STAN DAVIES

If there's one word in the lexicon of boating which has been abused more than most others, it's the word "dock." To most people a dock is any place or thing, where or to which you can tie up a boat.

In its original sense the dock was the water space between piers or wharves. It was also called a berth or a slip.

A dock is a place in which to moor a boat, and tying up in a dock or to a wharf or pier is done by means of mooring lines. Cleats or bitts (or, for big ships, bollards) are available on wharves to which mooring lines are made fast.

The chafing gear may be pieces of rubber hose, leather or canvas wrapped around a mooring line where it passes through a chock.

We have just used a number of the semi-technical words used by boaters in tying up or mooring their boats. There are many more one will run into. Most are quite self-explanatory.

Q. Must I carry rope on my outboard boat?

A. The law doesn't require it, but common sense does. Two 20-foot lengths for tying up seem like the minimum. For cruisers, or boats 26 feet long or more, I would carry two 50-foot lengths for mooring, then 100 feet of rope or chain for an anchor, plus 50 feet of buoyant heaving line, such as light floating ski-tow rope.

Q. Is nylon better than natural rope for an anchor line?

A. Infinitely better. Nylon stretches and has a springiness that manila or other fibers do not have. Many nylon ropes will stretch as much as 40 per cent of their length before breaking. This elasticity is quite undesirable in some applications, such as for sheets or halyard on a sailboat. But for an anchor line, you can't beat it.

Q. What's the best rope to resist abrasion?

A. Nylon and dacron are about equal.

Q. When rope size is given, does it mean diameter or circumference?

A. Fiber ropes are usually measured by circumference, and wire ropes usually by diameter, but, sad to say, both systems get mixed up. So be careful. When you buy or order a rope, specify exactly what you want . . . for instance 1½ inch circumference manila.

Q. I left my boat tied up. The rope got wet and pulled a cleat off my deck. How much does it shrink?

A. Synthetics don't shrink when wet, but all natural fibers (manila, sisal, hemp, linen and cotton) do. The only exact figure I have is this: One-half inch diameter manila shrinks one inch per foot when thoroughly wet.

Q. What's the best rope for towing water skiers?

A. The type that's used almost invariably nowadays is a braided line made of polyethlyene or polypropylene . . . two synthetics. The braiding gives the rope spring and resistance to kinking, and both materials float. These are the materials recommended for the buoyant heaving line mentioned earlier. Either type of rope is also good for "painters" on light craft.

A. When it's in the roll, you call it rope, but when you buy it and put it to a specific use on your boat, it becomes a line, as anchor line, mooring line, heaving line, etc. Or it may assume another name, such as anchor rode or a sheet or a halliard. In a few cases, the word rope is retained as in bell rope or boltrope (part of a sail). The word to cover it all is cordage.

Tam Barely Misses Summer Cage Upset

Undefeated Lowell survived a stiff test from the Indians (Tamalpais) and went on to its seventh win in a high school division game of the Drake Summer Basketball League last night.

Lowell survived a 25-point outburst by Pat Schafer to pull out a 54-50 decision. Larry Clark led a balanced attack for the San Francisco entry with 13 points.

New Pisa (Poly), meanwhile rapped the Bulldogs (San Rafael), 76-39, with Joe Smith scoring 24. Steve Durham had 16 points for the Bulldogs.

TEENER LEADS SALMON DERBY

Dave Mello, 17, of San Rafael has taken the lead in the Southern Marin Kiwanis Club's Salmon Derby by catching a 44-pounder outside Tomales Bay July 16. He won the award for July and leads the overall competition with four months to go.

Andy Wurz of San Anselmo took first, second and fourth in the July striped bass derby competition. His top fish was a 48-pound, 3-ouncer.

Roger Rischer Beats Lewis By Decision

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two-time California heavyweight boxing champion Roger Rischer won a 10-round split decision over Fred Lewis of Sacramento here last night.

Rischer weighed 196½ and Lewis 183.
